CONTEXT

This is a collection of scripts for radio drama and variety from the Productions Office at Radio Éireann/Raidió Teilifís Éireann (RTÉ), with affiliated materials such as correspondence, and research papers.

Administrative History

1. Raidió Éireann – Raidió Teilifís Éireann

On 26 March 1924, a Special Committee on Wireless Broadcasting filed their final report with Dáil na hÉireann, recommending that 'Broadcasting should be a State service purely', with its installation and management to be in the hands of the Postal Ministry. ('Wireless Broadcasting Report – final Report of Special Committee', par.6.)

The Wireless Telegraphy Act was not passed in the Dáil until November 1926, but in the meantime, the 'Irish Free State Broadcasting Service', popularly called 2RN, had begun broadcasting on 1 January 1926, as a section of the Department of Posts and Telegraphs. In 1927, a sister station was opened in Cork, 6CK, its location in the former Women's Gaol in Sunday's Well. With the installation of a high-power station in Athlone in 1932, the Irish broadcaster became known as 'Radio Athlone'; from 1937 the service in general was popularly called 'Radio Éireann', and this was only formalised in 1960. With the beginning of television in 1961, 'Teilifís Éireann' came into being, and the combined services were restyled 'Raidió Teilifís Éireann' in 1966 with the Broadcasting Authority (Amendment) Act of that year. The Broadcasting Act of 2009 then renamed it 'Raidió Teilifís Éireann', in line with Irish language spelling rules.

The Department of Post and Telegraphs retained full responsibility for Radio Éireann until the Broadcasting Authority Act (1960) when the Radio Éireann Authority was appointed. The Department was abolished in 1984. RTÉ is now a statutory corporation.

The broadcaster's offices were situated at first in Little Denmark Street (now the ILAC Centre), but were moved to the General Post Office (with a Henry Street entrance) in 1928, where they remained until 24 September 1973, when broadcasting from the new site in Donnybrook began.

Séamus Clandillon was the new broadcaster's first director ('Director of Broadcasting'), with seven part-time members of staff. By 1939, there were three announcers, a Staff Administration Officer, a Woman Organiser, Engineer, News Officer, and a Talks Officer.

Regarding language matters, the 1926 Act related to administration and the responsibilities of Posts and Telegraphs, and despite strident points made in the 1924 report, the Irish language community felt this was neglected, and this stayed a live issue until the foundation of Raidió na Gaeltachta (1972) and Teilifís na Gaeilge (1996, now TG4). Radio Éireann's offices were bilingual, with some staff employed specifically to write material in Irish as well as English, but there was no division of labour. (Output in Irish, viewing the period covered by these papers, varied between 6 and 10% of the overall airtime.)

2. The Productions Office: Drama and Variety

The scripts contained in this collection were produced by the Productions Office, situated in Henry Street, and later Donnybrook. The Productions Office was first headed by John McDonagh (1935–47), then by H.L.(Larry) Morrow (1947–51), and by Micheál Ó hAodha (acting 1951–3, fully appointed in 1953). The Office produced drama, feature, and variety programmes, for adults and young people, in English and in Irish.

The Productions Department, as emerges from this collection, dealt with radio drama proper (c.60%), adaptations of stage plays (c.12%), adaptations of prose works for broadcasting (c.11%), and with the amorphous genre of features and documentaries in dramatic form (c.11%), the latter usually with an educational agenda (see especially the 'Treasure House' series). Around 8% of all are in translation into English from other languages including Irish. Around 9% is in Irish, some of it translated from other languages. Around 6% of the material consists of series, including original radio work and adaptations. The variety genre only makes up c.2% of the whole.

Radio Éireann's Annual Report for 1947 explains the relative dearth of radio drama proper: 'From its early days Radio Éireann has made sustained efforts to encourage Irish radio dramatists - writers of plays and features specifically conceived in terms of radio. Prizes have been offered, plays commissioned from established dramatists- but to very little purpose...'. (p.13) For example, a competition had been held in 1936 for radio drama which was very successful, but such competitions could not fill the gap.

Similar misgivings were expressed about the 'variety' genre in 1947, 'of which inflow is even less than that of Radio Drama. Radio Variety is even more a matter of split-second "timing" than Radio Drama; the only really successful way to write and produce Radio Variety is during rehearsal - beginning with a "Skeleton" script and filling in jokes and wise-cracks ad hoc. Here again is a craft which can be learnt only in the workshop'. (p.14) Variety consisted of programmes with song, dance music, comedy sketches, but also included the quiz show Information, Please, and the popular genealogical programme Meet the Clans, produced in Ireland in 1962 and then in the US in 1963 and 1965. (P261/4412-4414)

'Variety' last appeared as a separate entity in RTÉ documentation of 1976–7. (Alacoque Kealy Irish Radio Data 1926–80, RTÉ Occasional papers Series 1, 1981 p.30.)

Some of the features that resemble short plays make the dividing line between radio drama and talks/features, dealt with by the General Features Office, rather thin. Because of the cross-over, researchers of playwrights and their work ought to consider all three RTÉ Radio Scripts collections at UCD, P259 Scripteanna Chaint Raidió I nGaeilge, P260 Radio Talks and Features in English, and this collection.

The production standards of radio drama, features and variety, were raised by the foundation in 1947 of a permanent repertory group of players.

3. The Radio Éireann Players ('RÉP')

During the 1930s, radio drama suffered from a lack of resources, including a dearth of drama for radio. From 1935, Radio Athlone relayed plays from venues like the Gate, Peacock, and Taibhdhearc Theatres. Productions were made with casual and part-time actors. However, in 1947, Radio Éireann received funding originally intended for a new shortwave service to broadcast overseas, which fell victim to the change of government in February 1948. (Eileen Morgan-Zayachek 'Losing their day jobs: the Radio Éireann Players as a permanent repertory company' Theatre Survey 46 no.1 (May 2005) pp 31-48, p.34.) Not anticipating the failure of the shortwave station, Radio Éireann used its funding in 1947 for the formation of a standing repertory company, the Radio Éireann Players, employing 24 actors including Irish speakers. Later, Radio Éireann also brought in guest actors such as Hilton Edwards, Micheál Mac Liammóir and Cyril Cusack. It is unclear whether the RÉP was ever officially disbanded.

Thanks to the existence of the RÉP, RTÉ was twice awarded the first prize for radio drama at the Prix Italia, with Seamus G. O'Kelly's The Weaver's Grave (an adaptation) in 1961, and with Dan Treiston's Piano in the River in 1965, both of which scripts are in this collection (P261/3142 and P261/4117).

4. List of Actors at RÉ/RTÉ

This is an incomplete list of actors either in casual or longterm employ by Radio Éireann/RTÉ, collected from drama and feature scripts used at rehearsals, and bearing handwritten names. A number of scripts bear handwritten monograms or other notes on the actors employed for the piece, and the list may help to identify them. Some of the following were members of Radio Éireann Players (1947-[1980]), others were in more casual employ by Radio Éireann/RTÉ. See also a list of RÉP members in Maurice Gorham Forty Years of Irish Broadcasting (Dublin: Talbot Press, 1967), pp 163-164, and Eileen Morgan-Zayachek 'Losing their day jobs: the Radio Éireann Players as a permanent repertory company', Theatre Survey 46 no.1 (May 2005) pp 31-48.

Scripts retrieved from the Cork Studios, Union Quay, name the following actors: P.L. McCann (the author of the scripts), J. Duffy, Gertrude Quinn, Paul Ryland, S.J. Henry, Veronica Keary.

Other names recorded on scripts are those of sound engineers at Radio Éireann/RTÉ, including: James Neylin, John Farren, F.Lawlor, Norman O'Byrne, Brian O'Neill, Anton Timoney.

Notes on authors and scripts

1. Authors and scripts

The collection contains scripts from c.1,650 writers and three organisations. Some were written or adapted by staff of the Productions and the Scriptwriters' Office (for the latter, see collections P259 and P260); but the bulk came from writers external to the radio station.

The drama collection also contains correspondence with writers such as Teresa Deevy and Brian O'Nolan, and an actor, Cyril Cusack; and the files with variety programmes contain some correspondence with collaborators, and with the public (e.g. the series Meet the Clans).

Scripts very often bear the name of the actor who used the particular script, with additional reading directions, not to be confused with the author's or the adaptor's amendments, which are very rare. (See Appendix 1 for a list of actors derived from the scripts.) An attempt was made to note where a copy belonged to the author/adaptor, and this is always filed together with the Radio Éireann/RTÉ faircopy where extant. Translations are only filed together if they were found together.

The date of transmission is noted very rarely; sometimes the dates found on the scripts are those of submission or deadlines for the typist. It was not possible to check the newspaper listings for every undated script, but in the case of scripts missing the author's name these listings were very useful and dates obtained in that way were recorded in the list.

Two drama scripts (by Seán Crawford and P.L.McCann) were retrieved from Cork Studios, Union Quay, when they closed in 1995 (they operated from 1958); it is unclear whether these plays were produced in Dublin or in Cork.

2. Missing Scripts

Judging from the drama lists (English and Irish) in the Annual Reports (1947–74), and the scripts that survive in this collection, about a quarter of drama scripts from that period did not survive. These include, for example, Louis D'Alton The Fifth Man (1947), Richard Johnston I Shall Give (1961), Shakespeare Troilus and Cressida (1963), serial books by E.M.Foster and L.P.Harvey (1967), and Seán Ó Tuama Judas Ischariot agus a Bhean (1968).

Where scripts for broadcast are not extant, it ought to be remembered that Radio Éireann/RTÉ had little post-production use for these scripts. Scripts that were not accepted were generally returned to their authors.

3. RTÉ document numbers:

Most documents had numbers assigned by Radio Éireann/ RTÉ most of which are in chronological order by c.1950.

Sample list of numbers and years:

- 1) not chronological: 124 (1945), 211 (1950), 725 (1952);
- 2) chronological: 400 (1941), 989 (1950), 1636 (1957), 2264 (1961), 3216 (1969), 3420 (1971), 5262 but also 5480 (1985), 7136 (1990), 7565 (1996), 7639 (1997).

Archival History

The material was gathered at the Dublin studios of RTÉ. Under the terms of the RTÉ-UCD Partnership, the material was transferred to UCD Archives in November 2011. The RTÉ Archives Project was initiated to repack and catalogue the scripts and ran from August 2011 until May 2013. The project archivist was Vera Orschel.

DESCRIPTION CONTROL

Conventions

The alphabetical order of authors follows the conventions of the Dictionary of Irish Biography (Cambridge: University Press, 2009), where e.g. prefixes 'de' and 'von' are taken as the first defining elements of the name, irrespective of whether the name is Irish ('de Faoite') or non-Irish ('von Kleist'). Following the same guide, pen-names are supplied after the author's proper name, in quotation marks. In the cases of 'Rex McGall' (really Deasún Breathnach) and 'Rutherford Mayne' (really Samuel John Waddell), their real names became known too late in the process, and their pen-names appear here. If an author wrote in both Irish and English, the form that occurs most often is the form chosen to enter the list first, the alternative Irish or English name follows in brackets.

Older forms of spelling in the Irish language were left as they were found, e.g. An Séire Déidhionnach, Baintighearna an Ghorta.

Correspondence with Kenneth Deale

File of correspondence between writer Kenneth Deale, Ballsbridge, Dublin, and Micheál Ó hAodha, Productions Director, also Francis MacManus, General Features Officer, Radio Éireann. Concerning scripts of plays, original, translated or adapted for radio, by Deale. The broadcaster accepts the adaptation of d'Hervillez' Furnished Letting. Among the pieces rejected is a proposed multi-part detective series Professor Ormonde's Cases, potentially a documentary series, which are returned because of inappropriate subject matter, or thin plots. Mention is made of a play eventually broadcast by BBC Northern Ireland, What Happened the Chocolates (May 1958).

Correspondence

File of correspondence between writer Teresa Deevy, Waterford, and Production Directors John MacDonagh and Micheál Ó hAodha, Radio Éireann, assistants at the Production Department, and Head of Scriptwriters Philip Rooney. Includes internal reports about plays submitted and broadcast. The correspondence concerns fees, the cast chosen for particular plays, editing choices; and scheduling.

The plays under discussion include Dignity, Katie Roche, Wife to James Whelan, Light Falling, In Search of Valour, Polinka (not broadcast), Supreme Dominion, One Look – and What It Led to.

There is no correspondence from 1940–6, 1951–2.

Includes:

- § Report (unsigned) about Deevy's play Supreme Dominion, advising on cuts which could be done in-house, but recommending it overall (13 July 1957, 1p);
- § Letter from Ó hAodha to Deevy concerning One Look-and What It Led to in an early version: 'We are not keen on using the Voice of Christ, speaking anything but the words of the Gospels, for reasons which you will appreciate; and even then, we do not favour its use in radio plays' (4 December 1962, 1p).

Ask Inspector Keen

File of typescript radio plays, and some correspondence, concerning a [weekly] series of detective fiction with listener interaction. The series is based on submissions of murder clues and solutions by listeners; each programme contained two short plays based on two of these submissions; the listeners whose solutions surpassed 'Inspector Keen's' solutions were awarded a prize. Each programme names the listeners whose clues are under 'Inspector Keen's' consideration. Only 11 scripts are dated; 4 items of correspondence between Giltinan, [Producer] Seamus [Breathnach], Radio Éireann, and a listener, illustrate how the series was produced.

Includes 'Last Page' of a programme, with a script for the announcer and the findings of the jury for or against Giltinan and the listeners whose submissions were used for this particular programme (1 December 1948, 1p).

An Club Taibhseoireachta (2 shraith)

Comhad cáipéisí, idir lámhscríbhinní agus clóscríbhinní, de scrípteanna chlár raidió. Craoladh an dhá shraith ag tús na bliana 1954, agus ón fhómhair 1955 go dtí an Earrach 1956. Maireann trí mhír den chéad shraith (5-7), agus 23 mír den dara sraith (gan bhearna). Ba chlár scéalta taibhsiúla é, agus glacadh le scéal amháin seolta isteach ag an lucht éisteachta. Ní mhaireann ach na scéalta a fuair an duais, agus ar craoladh ar an chlár; is lámhscríbhinní bunaidh ón lucht éisteachta coda acu.

Ní drámaí atá iontu, ach tá go leor agallaimh beirte ann.

Tá cuid acu atá dréacht agus cóirchóip iontu, ach ní dhealraíonn go mbíonn difríocht eatarthu.

Is iad seo a leanas na daoine a sheol scéalta taibhsiúla isteach:

P.Mac Coiligh, Baile Átha Cliath; Máire Ní Mhaoláin, An Fálcarrach, Contae Dhún na nGall (céad shraith); Deasún Ó Dónaill, Baile Átha Cliath; Eibhlín Ní Néill, An Mám, Contae na Gaillimhe; Eibhlín Ní Bhaoighill, An Fálcarrach, Contae Dhún na nGall; Conchubhar Ó Tuama, Baile Átha Cliath; Pádraig Ó Nuatáin, Gabhall a' Spurra, Corcaigh; Seosamh Ó Gormáin, Baile an Fheirtéaraigh, Contae Chiarraí; Cionath Bale, Ceapach Chuinn, Contae Phortláirge; W.T.Ross, Dunmurry, Contae Aontroma; Micheál S.Ó hÓdhráin, Clár Chlainne Mhuiris, Contae Mhuigheo; Seán Ó Cearnaigh, Cloichín, Contae Thiobráid Árann; Pádraig Ó Dónaill, Ceann Caslach, Contae Dhún na nGall; Eibhlín Ní Carthaigh, Daingean Uí Chúis, Contae Chiarraí; Mairéad Ní Shé, Baile Átha Cliath; Diarmaid Ó Tuama, Cúil Aodha, Contae Chorcaí; Liam Aghas, Baile Átha Cliath; Breandán Ó Muirtheartaigh, Caisleán an Chúitigh, Contae Ros Comáin; Máire Nic Siomóin, Gaillimh; Tarlach Ó Flanagáin, Caisleán an Bharraigh, Contae Mhaigh Eo; Johnny Sheáin Ó Muimhneacháin, Maghchromtha, Contae Chorcaí; Siobhán Bean Uí Icí, Contae Bhaile Átha Cliath; Pádraig Ó Gabhláin, Béal Áth hAmhnais, Contae Mhaigh Eo (dara sraith).

1.1241.2 Correspondence

P261/3204 November 1950–June 1960

25 items

Correspondence

File of correspondence between Radio Éireann Productions Director Micheál Ó hAodha, Assistant Productions Director Séamus Kavanagh, and writer Brian Nolan, Blackrock, County Dublin, concerning dramatic works by Nolan that may be suitable for radio; quoting payment rates; and obtaining permission for repeated broadcasts. Also correspondence with third party seeking a script for a private (school) production.

The plays and programmes discussed include the plays Thirst (November 1958), Faustus Kelly (November 1959), Cruiskeen Lawn (July 1960), and short pieces including Cluiche Cliché (May 1960).

Includes:

§ Letter from Nolan to Director of Broadcasting [Maurice Gorham] complaining about the 'contemptible' pay he has been offered for Thirst (19 Dec 1958, 1p);

§ Correspondence between Kavanagh, Ó hAodha, Controller of Programmes Roibeárd Ó Faracháin, and Brian O'Nolan, concerning his proposal for a humorous panel quiz on the meaning and misuse of words; unclear whether this was realised (March–April 1959, 3 items).

Pádraig Pearse

File of typescript radio programmes, either constituting separate parts of one programme, or parts of a series about Pádraig Pearse. Two introductory parts deal with Pearse 'the man' (including a translation into Irish) and 'the writer'. A principal part reviews and gives excerpts from essays written by primary- and secondary-school pupils who received prizes from the Coiste Cuimhneacháin na bPiarsach, listing names and schools. The introductory essay 'Pearse the Man' quotes Desmond Ryan for his acquaintance with Pearse; the second 'Pearse the Writer' ambiguously calls this a talk by Desmond Ryan, while the narrator is 'D.O.R.'

Among the pupils whose work is quoted at length: Mary Iseult Murphy, Clonskeagh, Dublin; Veronica Banville, Fayne, County Wexford; Éamon Ó Riagáin, Dundrum Road, Dublin; Mary Canavan, Carlow (first prize); Ann Phelan, Portlaoise; Áine Nic Piarais, Glasnevin, Dublin.

Blackbird on the Boyne

File of correspondence, research material, and scripts for a radio feature concerning the poet Francis Ledwidge, broadcast on 9 November 1959 (repeated in 1960 and 1963). Correspondence is between Head of Scriptwriters Philip Rooney, his successor Norris Davidson, Controller of Programmes Roibeárd Ó Faracháin, Officer in Charge, General Office, Radio Éireann; with contributors to the programme (see below), with publishers and private copyright-holders including Messrs Herbert Jenkins Ltd, London and Lady Dunsany, Kent; with listeners, including Margaret O'Reilly, Beaufranc, County Meath, and some contributors; and with researcher Alice Rynne, Naas, County Kildare. There are two progressive drafts, and a finished script (23pp). Partly in Irish.

Rooney contacts various people with information about Ledwidge, including Joseph Ledwidge, Slane, County Meath; and Margaret Shaw, Dublin. He also consults material in the station's own archives from a programme about Ledwidge of 1937. In 1963, Ledwidge's biographer Alice Rynne asks for the script, and is given further information. The Productions Office was responsible for producing this programme.

Includes:

- § Letter from Patrick J. Sampson, Enniskerry, County Meath, to Rooney, explaining his father's friendship with Ledwidge and his own interest, and offering help (19 September 1959, 1p);
- § Letter from Rooney to John Shanahan, Inchicore, Dublin, about the correspondence between Ledwidge and Shanahan's mother, Elizabeth née Healy, enclosing excerpts from his proposed script and asking for permission to broadcast (19 October 1959, 2 items);
- § Letters from Winifred McGoona, Navan, County Meath, to Rooney and his successor, taking exception with some points in the programme about her brother Matt McGoona, Ledwidge's friend; replies from Rooney explaining his choice of words and reply from Ó Faracháin expressing his trust in Rooney's research (November 1959, April 1963, 4 items);
- § Letter from [S.] Ó Cinnéide, Dáil Éireann, to Rooney, praising the programme (5 December 1959, 1p);
- § Dossier of excerpts from various sources about Ledwidge, and from his poems, including two handwritten memoranda [one by Joseph Ledwidge] (not dated, 19pp).

Correspondence

File of correspondence between Productions Director H.L. Morrow, Director of Broadcasting C. O'Kelly, Séamus Kavanagh, Productions Department, General Features Officer Francis MacManus; some of the various compères of the programme including Con Lehane; with letters of invitation to potential experts on the panel including Noel Peart, Blathnaid Dillon, and Séamus Kelly; correspondence with other people external to Radio Éireann who were employed compiling questions or designing changes, including Sheila Greene and Niall Sheridan; and some few items from listeners commenting or sending in questions. Mostly made up of internal discussions between compères and panel members on the reliability of the sources, the format of the programme; the possibility of reviving it in 1950; with detailed plans for a revival in 1958 (evidence is inconclusive whether it was revived or not). Also includes a 'Report on Programmes as Broadcast', by Radio Éireann staff.

There is no correspondence for 1949, 1953, 1955-1956.

Meet the Clans 1962

File of memoranda, correspondence, schedules, and a small number of scripts relating to the production of this radio variety series, broadcast February-December 1962.

This series was made up of programmes arising from 23 clan gatherings organised by Radio Éireann. They were recorded at the Gresham Hotel, Dublin or occasionally at actual clan gatherings, where genealogist Eoin O'Mahoney held impromptu interviews, and together with Pat Layde introduced prominent members of the clan, singers and musicians. Radio Éireann and O'Mahoney drafted a programme, invited prominent members of clans, such as Grace Kelly, and invited the general listenership to apply for tickets. Includes corresponding with listeners.

The programmes in the order of broadcasting dealt with the following families: O'Neill, O'Brien, O'Connor, O'Donnell, O'Byrne, Fitzgerald, O'Kelly, O'Reilly, Ryan, O'Sullivan, Murphy, Lynch, O'Mahony, Gallagher, O'Malley, Kavanagh, Walsh, Maguire, Brennan, O'Doherty, O'Carroll, Doyle, Smith.

Memoranda and schedules by Productions Director Micheál Ó hAodha, Assistant Productions Director P.J. O'Connor; with full lists of the programmes as recorded and broadcast, and a small number of opening/closing announcements for particular programmes. No other scripts are extant.

Meet the Clans in America 1963

File of correspondence, memoranda, and schedules concerning arrangements for a lecture tour by genealogist Eoin O'Mahony, and the production of this special variety radio series on the East Coast of the US, broadcast from May 1963 [at least] until December 1963.

O'Mahoney and the Éire Society of Boston decide on a lecture series for March 1963 for Irish-American audiences; and Radio Éireann decides to send Micheál Ó hAodha with the speaker to produce programmes for Meet the Clans. Includes material relating to gathering information about Irish-Americans in Boston, contacting facilitators including broadcasters; and to arranging radio and television appearances for O'Mahoney and Ó hAodha. Attempts are made to record a message from President J.F. Kennedy for a rally of his clan; and by April 1963 a programme with O'Mahoney is being compiled for Kennedy's visit to Ireland.

Memoranda by Productions Director Micheál Ó hAodha, Radio Éireann, and compère Eoin O'Mahoney.

Correspondence between Irish-Americans, including Tour Director Henry Weldon, Éire Society of Boston, with Eoin O'Mahony, arranging a number of lectures by O'Mahony for March 1963, and asking assistance with travel to Europe.

Productions-related correspondence:

1) between Productions Director Micheál Ó hAodha, Chairman Éamonn Andrews, and Director General Edward J. Roth.

2) correspondence mostly between Ó hAodha and those assisting the programme, including acting Consul General Con Howard, Boston; Harry Weldon, Éire Society of Boston; Program Manager Al Heacock, WBZ, and other broadcasters in Boston; Seymour Siegel, Spoken Word Inc. and other broadcasters in New York; the Department of External Affairs, Dublin; President Edward Keelan, Society for the Preservation of Historic Ireland, Milton, USA; President Robert H. O'Brien, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc., New York; Director-Manager T.J. O'Sullivan, Gresham Hotel, Dublin; and lawyer Lenahan O'Connell, Boston, USA.

Includes:

§ Letter from Edward Lenihan to compère Eoin O'Mahony, both Dublin, enclosing a long letter from Daniel S. Lenihan, New York, asking for assistance concerning the history of his clan (February–March 1962);

§ Letter from Eoin O'Mahony to Micheál Ó hAodha, enclosing a list by Consul General Howard of important Bostonians; naming twenty one persons, and families suitable for 'clan rallies' (11 December 1962, 3 items);

§ Letter from playwright Michael Molloy, Galway, to Micheál Ó hAodha, recommending he contact the Grace family Shipping Line for their historical interest; referring to his plays currently produced by Teilifís Éireann (7 February 1963, 1p).

File of typescripts for a radio variety series. The principal writer for the series appears to have been Liam Ó Ceallaigh. The series was bilingual and consisted of various constituent sketches with musical interludes. The sketches repeatedly return to the Byrne family, to 'Máire agus Bairbre', later to 'The Drip [Mr Finlay]', and to book reviews with 'Mr Hotchkiss'.

The file consists of four sub-files:

- § loose opening and closing announcements for programmes or their constituent parts, some dated but detached from the programmes they pertain to (June-July 1955, 21 items);
- § instalments from the earlier series, already featuring the Byrnes and 'Mr Holchkiss' (not dated, 4 items);
- § a later series of programmes, further developed and now including 'Mr Finlay' (1956, 7 items);
- § a file of disparate constituent parts of programmes possibly belonging to the 1956 series or another later series of programmes (not dated, 11 items).

Includes:

- § Script for a sketch entitled 'Censorship', involving the book critic 'Mr Hotchkiss' complaining to the censor about the ban on his book 'Love Songs of Ballybrophy' (not dated, 4pp).

P261/4424

File of handwritten and typed scripts for a radio variety programme produced by P.J. O'Connor, featuring a seanchaí and singers. Writers include Micheál Ó hAodha, Seán Óg Ó Tuama, John Brennan, and Brendan Behan (one script only). Two series can be identified, one ended in May 1955, another called 'New Series' (no dates), but the bulk of the programmes is undated and without titles; often the extent of a constituent programme is not clear. Includes special programmes for Christmas 1953, 1954, and Easter (no year). Also includes some disparate song lyrics, placed at the beginning. Usually, only the introduction to the song is scripted..

Includes complete song texts: 'The Rapparee's Horse and Sword', 'The Banks of Sullane', 'Emmet', 'It is the Shannon's Stream', 'Song of Niamh Cinn Óir', 'Na Sméara', 'The Pretty Girls of Loughrea', 'The Boys of Kilkenny', 'Mairéad Bán', 'The Jail of Cluain-Meala', 'The Winter it is Past', 'Ballinamona Oró', 'Kitty's Toys', 'Onward is the Watchword'.
