LEARN MORE ABOUT STUDYING LAW IN UCD

There are many opportunities throughout the year to engage with UCD Sutherland School of Law and find out more about studying with us.

ONLINE

Our website www.ucd.ie/law is a good source of information about studying law in UCD. For example in the 'Undergraduate Programmes' section you will find a series of testimonials where current and past students talk about their degree choices. We have also included a Reading List there which was prepared by faculty and should interest future law students.

For videos relating to law, go to UCD Sutherland School of Law YouTube Channel for student testimonials, a tour of the law building, some short sample lectures from Summer School and a selection of other events we have filmed over the last few years.

EVENTS

Throughout the year we also run a number of events either face to face or virtually – sign up with www.ucd.ie/myucd to receive notifications of the following:

- Law Open Evening
- UCD Open Day
- Law Summer School

TAKE A TOUR OF THE SCHOOL

Go to www.ucd.ie/myucd to book a campus tour which includes a visit to the School of Law. You will also see an option there for a 'virtual tour' of the campus.

WELCOME

Law governs many aspects of our lives. It affects many of our day-to-day interactions, transactions and personal relationships, as well as the fundamental challenges which face our societies such as climate change, human rights violations and rule of law backsliding.

Just as there are many sides to Law, there are many types of Law student. Our students come from a diverse range of backgrounds with different life experiences, strengths and skills. Some are new to Ireland or new to University, whilst others have years of professional or academic experience. Students from all backgrounds are welcome and belong to our community. The School of Law aims to inform, inspire and challenge our students. Our students develop rigorous research and analytical skills, academic integrity and strong ethics, equipping them for the next stage in their careers as UCD graduates.

We were excited to introduce a new BSc in Criminology with Psychology in the past year. This interdisciplinary undergraduate degree gives students the opportunity to study the nature of crime and the intersections between crime, law, social policy and psychology.

We continue to offer our established degrees in Business and Law (BBL) and Civil Law (BCL). Those who choose the BCL can select to study it on its own or as a 'Major' alongside a 'Minor' in French Law, Economics, History, Irish, Philosophy, Politics or Social Justice.

With our BCL and BBL degrees, the undergraduate curriculum introduces you to legal doctrine, legal writing, the ability to read case law, statutes, and other sources of law, and to analyse the role of law in society. The first two years of study introduce you to the diverse world of law with the opportunity in third and fourth year to study subjects such as Commercial Law, Criminology, Family Law, European Law, Human Rights Law, Intellectual Property Law, Legal Practice, Migration Law and Public International Law. If you have selected the BBL degree (Business and Law), you can choose to focus on business or law subjects in your final year, depending on your career plans at that stage. Students taking the BSc degree develop their research and analytical skills in the fields of Criminology and Psychology across the four years of their degree, starting with introductory modules in Criminology, Penology, Criminal Justice, and Psychology in first year.

Our Professional Diplomas, Masters and PhD programmes provide talented students with the opportunity to further develop their expertise. Classes are taught by academics who are leaders in their fields, and who publish nationally and internationally and contribute to public debates through social media, television, radio and the national press.

The School has a vibrant and engaged alumni community and, with the UCD Careers Network, runs an extensive careers programme from first year onwards to assist our students in finding the right path for them after graduation. We take enormous pride in our students' achievements, whether they go onto successful careers in legal practice, business, public service, media or in the cultural and not-for-profit sectors. Some notable alumni have gone on to make a mark in public life, both in Ireland and overseas.

Your time at college will form some of the most important years of your life and we look forward to welcoming you to Sutherland School of Law to begin that journey.

UCD Dean of Law

OUR LEARNING ENVIRONMENT

The School of Law is based in the bright and modern, purpose-built UCD Sutherland School of Law building on the Belfield Campus.

The teaching facilities on offer are unrivalled and include three large lecture theatres and the unique Arthur Cox Clinical Legal Education Centre. This Centre houses a Moot Court, Judge's Chamber, Negotiation and Arbitration Suites, as well as Client Counselling rooms. The Sutherland School of Law offers modern and innovative spaces for the learning and practice of legal skills.

The building has proven to be an excellent environment for all who use it, from students and academics, to the legal professionals and distinguished guests who regularly frequent the Sutherland School of Law. With the changing learning environment, there are also opportunities for blended and online learning as part of many of the programmes we offer.

YOUR CAREER PATH

A law degree can be an excellent foundation for a wide range of career choices in addition to qualifying in the traditional legal professions.

As a law graduate from UCD, you will be very well placed to pursue various careers in Ireland and abroad. UCD Sutherland School of Law graduates have a strong reputation in the legal professional marketplace. Given their exposure to multidisciplinary studies, it is no surprise that many have also developed careers outside the law in fields such as banking, taxation, journalism and broadcasting.

OUR CAREERS SUPPORT

UCD has a dynamic Careers Network to advise you on your future career progression.

There are dedicated talks and workshops on topics such as 'CV Writing', 'Completing Application Forms' and 'Interview Preparation'. During the year, there are various employer recruitment presentations on campus, and leading Irish and UK law firms take part in an Annual Law Careers Fair organised by UCD. Law students can also apply to take part in a study trip to visit Commercial Law Firms in London.

All students are actively encouraged to engage with the career development programme from their first year in UCD.

ACADEMIC CAREERS ADVISOR

In addition to the excellent support offered by the UCD Careers Network, Sutherland School of Law also has an academic careers advisor on staff. The law careers advisor guides students from first to final year, offering advice on appropriate career steps: from further studies and scholarships at home or abroad, to law firm recruitment, Irish or European public institution placements and other public law and private law options.

For information on the current Head of Career Development in UCD Sutherland School of Law see our website at: www.ucd.ie/law/people.

THE LEGAL PROFESSIONS

If you take the BCL or BBL degree you can go on to qualify as a barrister or a solicitor in Ireland, or the UK, or as a lawyer in Australia, the USA, or Europe.

BUSINESS

Our graduates work in corporate banking, management and tax consultancy in companies throughout the world.

PUBLIC SERVICE

We have graduates in the Irish Human Rights and Equality Commission, the Law Reform Commission, in the Diplomatic Service, the Oireachtas and the European Union and Council of Europe institutions.

GRADUATE STUDIES

UCD Law graduates have been admitted to study for postgraduate degrees at many prestigious universities abroad, including Harvard, Oxford, Cambridge, the College of Europe and the European University Institute.

OTHER OPPORTUNITIES

Our graduates are also successful journalists, employed in the technology sector, and on the staffs of international organisations.

INTERNSHIP PROGRAMME

We are delighted to offer an extensive internship programme which allows students gain employment experience during their degree.

Developing work skills and employability are a crucial part of studying for a law degree. Our Clinical Legal Education Centre (CLEC) allows us to offer “clinical” modules such as Advocacy & Mooting which are an excellent way for students to gain practical experience of the skills required in a legal environment. We also offer an internship opportunity to students who select the BCL (Hons), Law with Economics, Law with History, Law with Irish, Law with Philosophy, Law with Politics and Law with Social Justice programmes.

This programme provides these students with the opportunity to apply for an internship with a law firm or non-governmental organisation in order to gain valuable work experience. Internships are extremely worthwhile as they help inform future career choices and enable students to put the knowledge and skills acquired in Year 1 and Year 2 into practice.

Internships are offered as an alternative to studying abroad and every effort is made to match students and employers. It should be noted however that an internship place is not guaranteed for all applicants.

WHAT IS AN INTERNSHIP?

In an internship, you take up a paid role in an organisation to gain work experience for a fixed period of time. Employers place considerable value in the skills and experience gained by graduates who have completed internships.

HOW LONG IS AN INTERNSHIP?

Internships are offered in Year 3 and involve a one trimester placement of 14 weeks. This will generally run between January and April in Trimester 2.

WHY INTERNSHIPS?

An internship is an experiential learning opportunity that provides lifelong academic, personal and professional benefits. It will allow you to apply your skills and knowledge in the real working world while enhancing your confidence and helping you gain a better insight into a particular role or industry sector.

“Participating...allowed me to apply the skills I had learned during my degree in a practical way.”

Participating in the Internship module in 3rd year was an invaluable experience that allowed me to apply the skills I had learned during my degree in a practical way. I conducted legal research, drafted contracts and attended client meetings. The module is worth 30 credits and takes place over 14 weeks in spring as an alternative to studying abroad or the traditional six modules. There were plenty of organisations to choose from, including law firms of different sizes and NGOs. I applied to a leading Dublin law firm because I wanted to know if a career in corporate law was the right path for me. This was very worthwhile as I secured a training contract. I would highly recommend the programme for anyone who is unsure of what they want to do with their law degree, or anyone who wants to develop their legal skills in a practical setting.

Stage IV BCL (Hons)

DID YOU KNOW?

According to the UCD Graduate Outcome Survey 2021, 94% of all graduates from BCL and Business and Law degrees were in employment or further training within a year of graduation. (Note: 85% response rate, 64% in employment, 30% further training).

INTERNATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

At UCD Sutherland School of Law, we actively encourage our students to travel abroad as part of their education. It is an opportunity not to be missed in today's globalised world.

We offer our students the best range of opportunities of any Irish Law School to study abroad, including numerous partners across Europe, as well as Australia, Canada, India, New Zealand, Singapore, and the USA.

Every year, more than one hundred of our students participate in one of our exchange programmes and spend a year or a trimester at an overseas university. Many of our graduates go on to practise law overseas as a result of their positive experience. UCD participates in the ERASMUS+/Socrates programme which has an extensive portfolio of partner universities around the world. This programme ensures that our students have the widest range of options possible for study abroad.

Depending on which particular programme you choose to study, you will have different options to spend a trimester or a year at one of our partner universities. The widest range of destinations is offered to BCL students.

Falon McLean

One trimester | University of Miami Law School

As part of my Law with Economics degree I spent the Spring trimester of third year studying abroad at the University of Miami Law School. The opportunity to study graduate law was fantastic. I gained insight into the American legal system as well as being exposed to American culture. Miami was such a vibrant place, I liked how you could experience the beach and city all at once. The campus itself felt like a resort, I was walking around in the sun being greeted by large iguanas. I met lots of exchange students from different countries and became involved with the UThrift society. I loved the college spirit at UMiami and really enjoyed attending the different sporting events. I also did a lot of travelling, which was incredible. I went to Arizona, Utah, Colorado and New Mexico to see the national parks, as well as visiting California, Texas and Mexico. Studying abroad is definitely one of my highlights from UCD. I would encourage anyone to take this opportunity, study abroad and make the most of it!

Ronan Mitchell

One trimester Erasmus | Ludwig Maximilian University, Germany

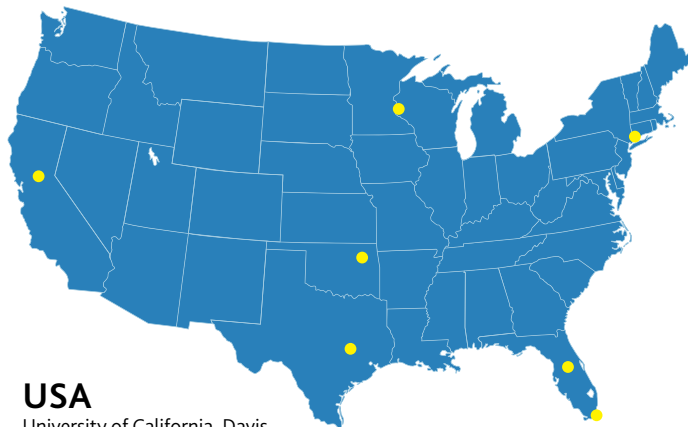

As a Business and Law student in UCD, I got the opportunity to experience Erasmus in Munich at the Ludwig Maximilian University in the second trimester of third year. I always had an urge to travel and explore new things. Any concerns I had about being the only student from my course travelling there were quickly wiped away while attending classes, making friends and experiencing all the great things Munich had to offer. I also got the opportunity to travel around during my time there, getting planes, trains and buses to nearby countries like Austria, Switzerland and Croatia. I met the most amazing people from different backgrounds and countries and it definitely allowed me to broaden my knowledge and awareness of cultures. On the academic side, I learned valuable information about cross border legal transactions and also about basic German law, which was interesting as it is a civil law jurisdiction. I will always remember and cherish my time abroad.

BCL (HONS) BACHELOR OF CIVIL LAW DN600

Studying national and international legal rules develops skills and strengths that appeal to employers outside and within the legal professions.

STUDENT PROFILE

Robin Jowett
Student

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

The BCL is a degree with a long history and an established reputation at home and abroad. The BCL degree allows you to immerse yourself in the study of law, to engage with a vast range of legal perspectives and to acquire a profound understanding of how law works in theory and in practice. The BCL degree offers students the widest range of international opportunities in your third year.

Many BCL graduates progress to distinguished careers nationally and internationally, including Siofra O'Leary, President of the European Court of Human Rights.

NOTE: If you are interested in later qualifying as a lawyer in the USA, the BCL programme is the recommended choice.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

You will focus on the core Irish Law modules in first and second year and then, in third and fourth year, tailor your BCL from a wide range of modules including:

- Commercial Law;
- Environmental Law;
- Media Law;
- Copyright Law; and
- International Human Rights.

You can also choose 'clinical' options focusing on law in practice, e.g. Advocacy and Mooting. The Sutherland School of Law has a moot court and trial rooms, offering you a virtual courtroom experience.

In third year, you will have the option to apply to study for either a trimester or a year at an international partner university, or to undertake an internship in Ireland.

You may also choose some non-law modules, including a language (Spanish, French, Irish or Chinese) as part of the Horizons elective programme.

"I chose to study law because I enjoy seeing how the world around me is governed by rules and policy."

I chose to study law because I enjoy seeing how the world around me is governed by rules and policy.

The opportunity to study such a variety of law modules is something which really appealed to me about the Law (BCL) course, whether this is Human Rights Law, or Environmental Law and Policy.

One of my favourite things about UCD is the student societies. As the Auditor of the 113th Session of the UCD Law Society, this is a fantastic way to further your public speaking through debating and adding to your practical skills through mock trials and mooting. LawSoc, for me, has also been where I have met many like-minded people with whom I have formed some of my best friendships.

DID YOU KNOW?

Final year students can apply for US externships in the federal courts and the Federal Defender's Office in Los Angeles and Chicago. Summer Placements in the Supreme Court of Ireland are also on offer.

LAW WITH FRENCH LAW

DN600

Develop the skills and strengths that come from a thorough grounding in Irish and international law and combine these with a general education in French law.

STUDENT PROFILE

Daniel Kelly
Student

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

This degree allows you to undertake a degree in Irish law, whilst simultaneously acquiring a broad knowledge of French law and a very high level of competence in the French language and French legal terminology. This degree is one of two French Law Programmes offered by the Sutherland School of Law, the other being the BCL/ Maîtrise on the opposite page. All students interested in the French Law Programmes enter the BCL (Law with French Law) in first year.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

FIRST AND SECOND YEAR

The first year of the course focuses on the core Irish law modules including:

- Constitutional Law;
- Contract Law; and
- Tort Law.

This is combined with intensive French language training and an introduction to French public law and French private law.

In second year, you will continue to build your knowledge of the foundations of Irish law, covering:

- EU Law;
- Property Law; and
- Criminal Law.

You will also advance your French language skills and continue your study of French public law and French private law.

THIRD AND FOURTH YEAR

You will spend your third year at a partner university in Paris, Toulouse, Aix-Marseille, Lyon or Strasbourg, and will return to UCD for the last year of the programme. In final year, you are required to complete a dissertation on French law. You will particularly benefit from studying in a small class and from studying with both Irish and French students on the BCL/Maîtrise degree.

“I would highly recommend studying this degree to anyone with an interest in the French language and legal system.”

The modules taken, and the year abroad, offer a balance between learning about Irish law and developing a detailed understanding of the Civil Law system. Graduates, fluent in French, are uniquely placed for a career or postgraduate study on a European or International level.

The small class size creates a collegiate atmosphere, and the timetable allows plenty of time for extracurricular involvement. For example, as a member of the Literary & Historical Society, I had the opportunity to organise a debating competition for second level students, in collaboration with the Law Society.

DID YOU KNOW?

The UCD Sutherland School of Law is consistently ranked in the top 100 Law Schools in the World (QS World Rankings).

BCL/MAÎTRISE DN600

Pursue a unique opportunity to take two degrees at the same time. Acquire the linguistic and legal skills and qualifications to pursue exciting national and international career opportunities. Spend two years in France.

GRADUATE PROFILE

Celine Dakik | Legal Review
Analyst at leading Dublin law firm

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

This degree is one of two French Law Programmes offered by the Sutherland School of Law, the other being the BCL (Law with French Law) on the opposite page. All students interested in the French Law Programmes enter the BCL (Law with French Law) in first year. The students who have achieved the highest grades in Level I of the BCL (Law with French Law) will have the option to apply for interview to enter the BCL/Maîtrise.

The major difference between the two Programmes is that the BCL/Maîtrise allows you to undertake two degrees: a degree in Irish law and a degree in French law, the Maîtrise en Droit, from either the Université Panthéon-Assas (Paris II) or the Université Toulouse 1 Capitole.

Your final two years (third and fourth) are spent at either of these universities. The Maîtrise en Droit (or Master 1) is considered to be a master's level course.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

During your first two years of the dual-degree programme at UCD, you will study the primary legal subjects that are taken in the BCL.

These include: Constitutional Law; Contract Law; Tort; Property Law; and Criminal Law. In addition, you will study both French public law and French private law.

Third and fourth years are spent in one of our two partner universities: Université Panthéon-Assas (Paris II) or Université Toulouse 1 Capitole.

The BCL/Maîtrise is an intensive programme aimed at highly motivated and ambitious students.

Graduates of the programme will have acquired an exceptional range of legal and linguistic skills.

The intensive nature of this degree means that you will not have time to take electives as part of UCD Horizons.

"...provides the perfect path into practicing law whether in Ireland, France, or internationally."

Studying the BCL/Maîtrise in UCD has been an extremely rewarding experience. The unique programme provides the perfect path into practising law whether in Ireland, France, or internationally.

By acquiring in-depth knowledge of both the common law and the civil law legal systems, you are developing your legal skills and learning about two different cultures which offers opportunities for internships in a diverse range of law firms.

Also, the flexibility of my timetable encouraged me to get involved in student life: I am the senior advisor to UCD's Arab Society, a cultural society. Getting involved is crucial to develop your interpersonal skills and to make memories from the best years of your life!

DID YOU KNOW?

From this programme you can also go on to qualify as an avocat and practise law in France.

LAW WITH ECONOMICS DN600

Study law within the context of economics and explore the relationship between two of the most critical disciplines affecting society today.

GRADUATE PROFILE

Vivienne O'Keefe
Paralegal at leading Dublin law firm

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

This course allows you to acquire a highly respected degree in law, whilst simultaneously developing a broad knowledge of the principles of economics. Certain areas of law (competition regulation, intellectual property) are heavily influenced by economic theory, and as a BCL (Law with Economics) graduate, you will be uniquely equipped to understand these regulatory frameworks in all of their conceptual complexity. While on this degree you will embark on a field of cross-disciplinary study, which is intellectually very demanding, but also tremendously enriching, and of immense practical importance.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

With a wide choice of law and economics modules, you can pursue your own areas of interest. You will focus on the core Irish Law modules in first and second year and then, in third and fourth year, tailor your degree from modules such as:

- Employment Law;
- Competition Law in Practice;
- Banking Law;
- International Economic Law;
- International Monetary Economics; and
- Game Theory.

WHY ECONOMICS?

Economics explores how people – consumers, business people, public servants and politicians – make decisions, and how they choose between alternative ways of spending their money and using their skills, energy and time in a wide range of human endeavours. As well as standard subjects, economics can throw light on decision-making in many diverse areas of life, from love and marriage to sports and crime.

“...I found that these two subjects were highly complementary as they overlapped in several areas...”

Studying Law with Economics allowed me to gain a fantastic legal education whilst also studying a range of fascinating economics modules. I found that these two subjects were highly complementary as they overlapped in several areas, for instance intellectual property law and competition law. I was also able to do practical and stimulating modules such as Law in the Classroom and Choir.

As part of my degree, I studied abroad for a semester in Vienna, which was an incredible experience. Some of the highlights from my time at UCD include representing Ireland at Harvard University and in Rome for Model United Nations, debating at Oxford University, serving as secretary for the L&H society and visiting the five 'Magic Circle' firms on the London Commercial Law firms trip.

DID YOU KNOW?

Many leading UK and Irish law firms host recruitment presentations on campus in UCD throughout the year.

LAW WITH HISTORY DN600

This degree merges the disciplines of law and history and highlights where there is intersection between these subjects.

GRADUATE PROFILE

Robert Grendon

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

There is a natural affinity between the disciplines of law and history. Each is shaped by the other. Important historical events are often interlinked with contemporary legal structures, and legal reform is often prompted by the defining events of the past. As a consequence, many lawyers are also keen historians.

This course allows you to acquire a highly respected degree in Irish law, whilst also indulging a passion for history and acquiring a deeper understanding of past events which have shaped our legal system.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

With a wide choice of law and history modules, you can pursue your own areas of interest. Modules include:

- Jurisprudence;
- United States and the World;
- Radicals and Revolutionaries;
- Satan in the Middle Ages;
- Jury Trials;
- Rome to Renaissance; and
- The Making of Modern Ireland.

WHY HISTORY?

Knowing what happened and why is essential in life. Studying history provides you with the skills necessary to understand the world we live in. Explore the past, examining a wide range of periods and topics that cover many parts of the globe. Study controversies and different ways that the past can be understood. Learn how to research, use evidence and think critically.

“...it was a great help to understand the historical factors that were driving change at the time”

Law with History in UCD was top of my CAO because it allowed me to pursue the study of law and maintain my love for history. Studying law and history complement each other perfectly. In first year while studying constitutional law, it was a great help to understand the historical factors that were driving change at the time.

I have had the opportunity to study subjects such as Constitutional Law, European Economic Law, Nazi Germany and European Statecraft. While the quality of teaching in UCD is fantastic, my time here has been defined by my involvement in societies. As auditor of the Law Society, I was regularly involved in the best mock trials, debates and social events on campus.

DID YOU KNOW?

UCD has a dedicated Law Careers Fair and students are supported and advised by an academic member of staff and have access to the School's legal careers newsletter.

LAW WITH IRISH DN600

Offers a cohesive set of Irish language modules which are relevant to the study and practice of law.

STUDENT PROFILE

Tara Grattan | Student

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

The BCL (Law with Irish) programme offers you the opportunity to acquire a highly respected BCL degree whilst additionally deepening your competence in the Irish language in the context of law.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

FIRST AND SECOND YEAR

In first and second years your studies in law comprise core modules such as:

- Constitutional Law;
- Contract Law;
- Tort Law;
- EU Law;
- Property Law; and
- Criminal Law.

Your Irish language modules include:

- Teanga na Gaeilge
- Forbairt na Gaeilge Acadúla
- Aistriúchán Dlíthiúil
- Iriseoireacht na Gaeilge.

Students have the opportunity to study abroad at Concordia University (Montreal) for a trimester in their third year. Concordia offers one of the leading Irish Studies programmes in the world. Students will experience life in a vibrant bilingual city, and will have the opportunity (optional) of taking a French language course. Alternatively, students can go on Erasmus exchange to one of our partner universities in Europe.

WHY IRISH?

This degree offers Irish language enthusiasts the opportunity to further their language learning and to develop a unique ability to interact with legal texts in either Irish or English. Law graduates with a high level of competence in Irish are very well placed to pursue traditional careers in law as well as related careers including lawyer/linguist roles at the European Union and diplomatic service with the Irish Department of Foreign Affairs.

“Bhí spéis agam sa dlí agus thug an cúrsa seo an deis dom mo chuid Gaeilge a nascadh leis.”

Bhí sé mo chinniúint an chéim Dhlí le Gaeilge i UCD a roghnú mar bhí spéis agam sa dlí agus thug an cúrsa seo an deis dom mo chuid Gaeilge a nascadh leis agus leas a bhaint as an iliomad deiseanna fostaíochta atá ann trí chéim dhlí a nascadh le teanga. Leis an gcéim seo, is féidir aon slí bheatha a thógáil sa dlí, poist nideoige cosúil le Dlí Teangeolaí san Aontas Eorpach a bhaint amach agus freisin a bheith cáilithe don mhúinteoireacht Gaeilge.

Anuas ar na hábhair dlí agus Gaeilge, glacaim módúil roghnach sa Spáinnis ar a mbeidh céim agus líofacht bainte agam sa Spáinnis chomh maith. Mholfainn an cúrsa seo d’aon duine le dúil sa dlí in éineacht le paisean teanga chun an Ghaeilge a spreagadh amach anseo.

DID YOU KNOW?

The 2021 Official Languages Bill greatly increases the employment opportunities for Irish speakers in the public service, including in Foreign Affairs and Justice.

LAW WITH PHILOSOPHY

DN600

Explore fundamental questions about society, knowledge and human existence, and how they impact and influence the law.

GRADUATE PROFILE

Louis Bourke | Trainee Solicitor
at major Dublin Law Firm

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

Legal systems express and reflect the prevailing moral, political, social and economic philosophy of the State. Law and philosophy are therefore complementary fields of study and any understanding of law is fundamentally enhanced by a knowledge of philosophical theory. This course allows you to combine a highly respected degree in law with an enriched appreciation of its philosophical underpinnings.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

With a wide choice of law and philosophy modules, you can pursue your own areas of interest. Modules include:

- Jurisprudence;
- Criminology;
- Lawyers, Ethics and Legal Practice;
- Philosophy of Law; and
- Critical Theory.

Cicero, a Roman philosopher and lawyer, tells us: "It isn't enough to possess wisdom; you should be able to use it too".

Both disciplines train their graduates to read texts closely, think independently and foster an ability to communicate complex ideas with clarity and accuracy. These attributes are essential in many professional occupations, not least the world of legal practice.

WHY PHILOSOPHY?

Are you interested in thinking for yourself? Do you like problem solving? Do you want to tackle some of the most challenging questions that have fascinated thinkers for centuries, such as: How can we know anything? Do we have free will? How should we live? Does God exist? The main requirement for studying philosophy is a capacity for clear thinking and methodical argument.

"I gained the skills necessary to consider and challenge the ethical, political and human aspects of the law and of life."

The degree course of Law with Philosophy allowed me to gain a strong understanding of the law on many levels. The breadth of subjects available in UCD means that knowledge of any area of law is always at your fingertips. In addition, through my philosophy studies, I gained the skills necessary to consider and challenge the ethical, political and human aspects of the law and of life.

The degree allowed me to study law modules with philosophical elements and vice-versa. Both subjects allowed me to hone my skills of critical thinking, ethical reasoning and problem solving. This Law with Philosophy degree enabled me to become proficient in research and writing.

LAW WITH POLITICS DN600

Engage with law in the context of international and Irish politics, political organisation, government and public affairs.

STUDENT PROFILE

Soumya Arora
Student

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

Law and politics are inextricably linked by the legislative process. Many UCD law graduates have progressed to political careers in the Dáil, and others have become high-profile political commentators. This course allows you to obtain a highly respected law degree whilst also acquiring a deeper understanding of political theory and the political process.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

With a wide choice of law and politics modules, you can pursue your own areas of interest.

Modules include:

- Media Law;
- Criminal Procedure;
- EU Economic Law;
- Public International Law;
- Capitalism and Democracy;
- Foreign Policy Mistakes; and
- Middle-East Politics.

You will also take a special module, entitled 'Contemporary issues in Law and Politics'. Each year, this module examines a small number of topics which are at the interface of law, politics and social policy. A key feature of the module is the central role of invited guest speakers, including lawyers and former ministers (such as Michael McDowell SC), experts on international affairs (such as Dr Paul Gillespie) and leading journalists (such as Dr Carol Coulter and Dearbhail McDonald).

WHY POLITICS?

The study of politics examines national and international political institutions, systems and forces. These include governments, parliaments, parties and elections, as well as international alliances and conflicts, human rights, global poverty, war and political violence. Studying politics will also help you to develop your analytical skills, formulate an argument and express yourself clearly in writing.

"This degree seamlessly intertwines my interest in law with the intricate world of politics."

I embarked on my academic journey at UCD with the conviction that the Law with Politics programme was tailored to my aspirations. The comprehensive curriculum spans diverse subjects, sharpening my analytical prowess and providing a holistic understanding of both law and politics. I'm poised to navigate intricate legal and political landscapes because of the legal knowledge and opportunities UCD presents to me. I was awarded the Brian Farrell Medal for my academic accomplishments in politics. My legal internships in Singapore honed my negotiation skills and practical legal acumen, enriching my perspective. Chairing Model UN conferences globally, from the UN Headquarters in NYC to Morocco and Italy, broadened my outlook. I'm eager to continue exploring the opportunities that this programme presents.

UCD Law alumni have included a former Taoiseach and Tánaiste and many holders of the offices of Chief Justice, Director of Public Prosecutions and Attorney General.

LAW WITH SOCIAL JUSTICE

DN600

Are you concerned about injustice in society and interested in acquiring the skills and knowledge that will enable you to advocate change and to tackle social inequality?

STUDENT PROFILE

Sarah Curtis
Student

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

This course (the first of its kind in Ireland) is intended to allow you to acquire a highly respected law degree, whilst also gaining a detailed understanding of the social justice issues that are intended to be addressed by the legal system.

While on this degree, you will be uniquely equipped to offer a critical perspective on the adequacy of our criminal justice system, our family court structure, our social systems and inequality and social justice in Irish society.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

With a wide choice of law and social justice modules, you can pursue your own areas of interest.

Modules include:

- Constitutional Law;
- Criminal Law;
- Family and Child Law;
- Human Rights and Social Justice;
- Exploring Gender; and
- Race and Racism: Critical Perspectives.

WHY SOCIAL JUSTICE?

The subject areas of equality, diversity and disadvantage are increasingly topical in Irish society and on the wider global stage. This degree is designed for students who wish to combine law with an in-depth study of the social context in which law operates. Graduates of this degree often choose to pursue further study in Human Rights with a view to pursuing a career in this field.

“...this course is preparing me for a bright future in law, activism, and advocacy.”

Law with Social Justice is an excellent course for those who are passionate about tackling injustices in society and want to learn about law. The teaching of law at UCD is truly exceptional, providing a rich understanding of the Irish legal system and specific areas of law.

Alongside the insightful law modules in this course, social justice modules offered broaden knowledge on topics of politics, society, gender and race. The coursework also addresses issues of discrimination and inequality, allowing students to understand societal structures, changes that need to be addressed and the part individuals and groups have in moving towards a just society.

As a current student, this course is preparing me for a bright future in law, activism, and advocacy.

BBL BACHELOR OF BUSINESS AND LAW DN610

Combines two vital components of the commercial world – business and law – to achieve tremendous flexibility in your future career.

GRADUATE PROFILE Emily McCarthy

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

The BBL combines law and business into a single degree, providing you with an ideal skill set for the commercial world and offering tremendous career flexibility. As a BBL graduate, you will be uniquely equipped with the analytical and advocacy skills that arise from a legal training, combined with the numeracy and financial literacy of a business degree.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

FIRST, SECOND AND THIRD YEAR

During your first three years, you will study both business and law equally, learning how these two disciplines interrelate.

You will focus on core law degree subjects, including:

- Contract Law;
- Tort Law; and
- EU Law.

You will take a range of modules across business areas, including:

- Accountancy;
- Management;

- Finance and Economics; and
- Maths for Business.

FOURTH YEAR

You will have the option to take more business or law modules, depending on your preference and career plans.

The intensive nature of the BBL degree means that you will not have time to take electives as part of UCD Horizons.

WHY BUSINESS?

Students with strong numeracy and mathematical skills will find that business is a very complementary subject to study alongside law. The flexibility of module choices means that during your degree you may choose subjects that will enable you to pursue a future qualification as a solicitor or barrister, or alternatively in accountancy, finance, banking or tax. This degree is highly regarded by employers in the fields of both business and law.

“...the perfect degree for students who are unsure of what exact career path to choose as it provides you with a practical understanding of the core subjects of both faculties.”

The modules conducted by both the Sutherland School of Law and Quinn School of Business are led by professional and engaging academics who are experts in their fields of study. This flexible degree provides students with exposure to an equal number of business and law modules before allowing us to major in either subject during our final year. My involvement with the UCD Student Legal Service played a fundamental role in my decision to major in law. The UCD SLS is a society which aims to provide free legal information to students whilst also providing legal experience and the opportunity to get involved with their many events.

With the Bachelor of Business and Law Degree you can choose to study abroad for one trimester in your third year.

BSC CRIMINOLOGY WITH PSYCHOLOGY DN620

Launched in 2023, this is an exciting new interdisciplinary degree that combines the study of Criminology with the complementary discipline of Psychology.

FACULTY PROFILE
Assistant Professor Jonathan Ilan
Programme Director

WHY IS THIS COURSE FOR ME?

Criminology is the study of crime, the causes of crime and its impact on individuals and society. This unique new degree is designed to provide students with an advanced conceptual knowledge of Criminology and Psychology, an insight into the contribution of both disciplines to understanding key aspects of human behaviour and an ability to appraise the methodologies used in both areas.

WHAT WILL I STUDY?

Since this is not a law degree, your core modules will differ from the BCL and BBL degrees. In first year you will study the following core modules*:

- Introduction to Criminology;
- Law & Society;
- Introduction to Psychology;
- Brain & Behaviour;
- Introduction to Social Psychology;
- Law & Crime;
- Introduction to Criminal Justice;
- Introduction to Penology;
- Introduction to Applied Psychology.

Please note that these are indicative module titles*

Optional modules can then be selected in Law, Psychology, Sociology & Social Work, Social Policy and Social Justice. In second year, in addition to core modules, there will be the opportunity to select from optional modules such as: Race & Racism • Gender Power & Politics • Human Rights & Social Justice.

In third and fourth year, you will tailor your degree to choose options in Criminology, Law and Psychology, as well as Sociology & Social Work, Social Policy and Social Justice. In third year, students will have the opportunity to apply to study overseas. In fourth year, you will undertake a research dissertation where you will combine the methods and substantive training across criminology and psychology.

WHY CRIMINOLOGY WITH PSYCHOLOGY?

Graduates of this degree will be well positioned to pursue a variety of careers. The degree will open up the potential of pursuing a career in areas such as the Prison and Probation Services, An Garda Síochána and relevant Non-Governmental Organisations.

“This new undergraduate programme brings together expertise...to offer an inspiring interdisciplinary learning experience.”

Criminology is the systematic study of crime and its control. Criminologists ask what causes crime and how we might best respond to it; and why certain behaviours are criminalised while others are not.

This new undergraduate programme brings together expertise in the Sutherland School of Law and the School of Psychology to offer an inspiring interdisciplinary learning experience. Students will develop versatile analytical skills and the ability to compare and contrast different perspectives as they consider crime, punishment, law, psychology and social policy in new and exciting contexts.

The programme equips graduates with the tools to be active citizens, professional problem solvers and seekers of social justice.

STUDENT LIFE AT UCD

The UCD campus has unrivalled facilities for students, including an Olympic-sized swimming pool, a full gym and a 90-seater cinema.

Students have a really wide range of opportunities to explore their interests and develop new ones while at UCD. As well as the fitness, sports and entertainment facilities, there are over 100 clubs and societies. The diversity of these clubs and societies means that there is something for everyone - from Politics and LGBT+ societies, to those offering Photography, Music, Drama and Comedy. This is a great way for students to make new friends, socialise and expand their horizons.

In the School of Law, we encourage our students to engage as much as possible with campus life. We are very proud of the many students who participate in activities in UCD and those that make a contribution to the larger community, for example, recent graduates such as Grace Oladipo who founded the UCD Gospel Choir during her time in UCD and Andrea Whelton whose volunteering work included a four-week education programme in Tanzania.

We also celebrate the successful sports people who have combined their law studies with outstanding achievements. These include the four members of Ireland's World Cup Hockey team - Deirdre Duke, Anna O'Flanagan, Nikki Evans and Gillian Pinder; leading Golfer Chloe Ryan and, in rugby, Dan Leavy, Rory O'Loughlin and Garry Ringrose.

LAW STUDENT SOCIETIES IN UCD

In UCD, there are two long-established and extremely successful societies specific to the area of Law: LawSoc, which runs both debating and social activities; and the Student Legal Service, which runs clinics offering legal information to other students across UCD.

Law students are encouraged to join these two societies in first year. They are a great way to meet and mingle with law students from your own class and across all of the other years.

THE UCD STUDENT LEGAL SERVICE (SLS)

The Student Legal Service (SLS) is one of the fastest growing and most vibrant societies in UCD. The society has dual aims – to provide assistance to students in need of legal advice and to offer the benefit of their experience to current law students.

Providing assistance to students is at the heart of SLS and this is done via legal clinics which are held twice a week. Here volunteers help students with their legal queries, from problems with landlords to consumer issues and unhelpful employers. SLS clinics act as the first port of call for many student problems. Law students from first year to final year can sign up to volunteer at these clinics and this allows for experience with real life law issues and the chance to expand their knowledge and abilities.

The SLS is also passionate about providing law students with opportunities to prepare for a future career in the legal sector. The SLS negotiation competition held in the first trimester is one such opportunity. Students work as a team to negotiate a resolution to a dispute on behalf of a client. It has quickly become a highlight of the year and provides students with the opportunity to acquire skills such as teamwork and public speaking. The annual student run publication also provides students with the opportunities to hone their legal writing skills.

SLS also organises the Student Legal Convention which is held every year in Sutherland School of Law and attracts many legal professionals to campus as well as showcasing the talents of law students.

From a social perspective, the Society holds numerous talks throughout the year and has welcomed guests such as the retired President of the Court of Appeal, the Honorary Mr Justice Sean Ryan and CEO of FLAC, Eilis Barry. The Society also organises the annual Law and B&L Day which raises large sums of money every year for charity as well as other social events like breakfasts and table quizzes. Students can sign up to join SLS at UCD Fresher's week or by contacting the society through their social media pages.

UCD LAW SOCIETY

Now in its 113th year, LawSoc is one of UCD's biggest and most active societies. The Society serves a dual mandate as both faculty society for law and as a debating society. It is open to all students whether or not they study law and caters to a wide range of student interests. The Society runs a variety of events from House Debates, to Mooting and Mock Trials as well as student help series, careers events and socials.

Debates are hosted weekly and speakers invited to answer topical questions which in the past have included diverse themes such as: Should we unite Ireland? Was the last season of Game of Thrones the worst thing ever made? From comedy to hard-hitting topics, each debate is unique and entertaining (and is frequently followed by free pizza and slushies!).

LawSoc also welcomes high-profile guests to address members. Guests in recent years have included Dermot Kennedy, The Script, Judge Judy, Patrick J Adams (Suits), Donald Tusk and Bill Clinton, bringing in the well-known figures from the worlds of law, politics, sport and arts to speak in front of large crowds.

The annual Law Ball run by LawSoc is widely regarded as one of the best social events in UCD. The society also organises regular nights out and large events, from a Law Gala to first year movie nights and mixers. LawSoc also prides itself on debating success, sending students to debating competitions around Ireland and Europe.

At Freshers' Week the LawSoc team are easy to spot in their iconic red hoodies and information on the society is also available on the website www.lawsoc.ie and on social media.

ALTERNATIVE ROUTES TO STUDY LAW IN UCD

UCD Sutherland School of Law is committed to ensuring a diverse student body and therefore welcomes applications from candidates with a disability, mature students, and those who, for socio-economic reasons, might find the traditional application process difficult. During their degree, law students can also avail of a programme of funding and assistance – see details in the page opposite of the UCD Sutherland Opportunity supported by Mason Hayes & Curran.

QQI-FET ENTRY ROUTES TO LAW

Application is through the CAO system and in 2023 there were fourteen first year places on offer to students who obtained the required awards (see UCD Admissions website QQI-FET section). Seven of the places were in the BCL and Law 'With' degrees, five in the Business and Law (BBL) degree and two on the BSc Criminology with Psychology DN620.

Admission is available on a competitive basis to students who hold the accepted QQI-FET level 5/6 awards with Distinction (80% or above) in at least 5 of the specified modules.

Students are not required to have studied specific modules for the majority of degrees except for the following:

Law with French Law: applicants are required to hold a Grade H3 in Leaving Certificate French, or equivalent (in addition to meeting the criteria of distinctions in five of the required modules).

Business and Law: applicants must have a distinction (80% or better) in the 5N1833 Mathematics module or alternatively a Grade O2/H6 in Leaving Certificate Mathematics.

Law with Economics: it is strongly recommended that candidates have at least a grade of H6 in Leaving Certificate Maths (or its equivalent).

Before coming to UCD, I was very intimidated. I had seen how high the points were and was intimidated by the large campus. I wasn't sure if I'd be able to adapt to the largely different lifestyle.

However I still applied to UCD hoping for the best. Coming in through the Access centre was a great benefit as they offered campus tours and opportunities to meet people in your course in a similar situation to my own. Thanks to this prior to even starting college I became familiar with the campus and the people. This dealt with all my previous fears and helped me adapt to a college lifestyle.

After experiencing such great help from the Access Centre, I was eager to offer the same help I received to other students. I became an Access Leader, a Peer Mentor and a Community Path Mentor. Through these roles I was able to help resolve the fears of many students who had been accepted to UCD and many students aspiring to come to UCD.

I can proudly say that UCD was the right choice for me and encourage others not to be intimidated by UCD and be aware that it is a University for All, Accessible to All.

Graduate Scholarships: Available to law students to pursue their studies at Master's level. They include School bursaries, the James Healy and Walsh Scholarships and the new Doreen FitzGerald Caprani Masters Scholarship in Law.

UCD Sutherland Opportunity

Supported by Mason Hayes & Curran

This is a programme of funding and assistance open to UCD law students, with a particular focus on incoming first years from low-income families. It aims to create a level playing field and to give all of our students the opportunities that lead to professional success.

This programme offers financial assistance for students as well as other personal and academic supports. Over the past few years many UCD law students have received scholarships and bursaries which have allowed them to focus on their studies and to participate in international exchanges and internships, where otherwise this might not have been possible. Students are also given opportunities for career mentoring.

OUR SUTHERLAND SCHOOL OF LAW COMMUNITY

From the day you enter the Sutherland School of Law, right through to your graduation, we encourage you to make the best of your time in college. University is a chance for you to grow as a person and learn many life skills while you complete your degree.

When you join us, you will be part of a community made up of over one thousand students at undergraduate and graduate level and a highly engaged group of teaching and support staff. On graduation, you will become an alumnus of a prestigious law school which can count amongst its alumni some of the most influential individuals in society.

For example, the President of the European Court of Human Rights, Judge Síoifra O'Leary, the Chief Justice, Mr Justice Donal O'Donnell, and the Attorney General, Rossa Fanning SC, are all BCL graduates.

There are also many successful business people and accomplished writers, media personalities and activists that we can count amongst our alumni. They include award winning war reporter, Sally Hayden and renowned human rights barrister, Caoilfhionn Gallagher KC, who was recently appointed Special Rapporteur for children in Ireland. Both of these distinguished alumni are Adjunct Professors in the School of Law.

FURTHER STUDY IN SUTHERLAND SCHOOL OF LAW

UCD Sutherland School of Law has established an international reputation for the quality of our graduate degrees and doctoral programmes in addition to our reputation for excellence in undergraduate education.

If you undertake one of the undergraduate law degrees outlined in this brochure, there will be many options open to you when you graduate. One of these is to further your education with a one-year Masters degree (LLM) in the Sutherland School of Law. Some of our students choose to do this so that they can specialise in a specific area of law.

This can be as a means to a career in academia or to progress in a specific career direction – for example digital law, a career with the European Commission or in the NGO area. It is also common for qualified solicitors or barristers to return to UCD to undertake further education in an area of law in which they have chosen to specialise – generally undertaking a two-year, part-time Masters or a specific Diploma.

If your ultimate degree choice takes you in a direction other than law, you may be interested to learn that we also offer programmes to graduates from other disciplines, including the Masters of Common Law conversion degree.

GRADUATE PROGRAMMES

- LLM Degrees: Seven taught Masters for law graduates: LLM General, LLM in Intellectual Property and Information Technology, LLM in European Law and Public affairs, LLM in International Commercial Law, LLM in International Human Rights.
- Masters of Science*: MSc in Criminology and Criminal Justice, MSc in International Law and Business, MSc in Environmental and Climate Law.
- Research Masters in Law: A full-time or part-time supervised Masters incorporating a substantial research project.
- Professional Certificate in Law: A means of undertaking single Masters level modules.
- Masters of Common Law*: An intensive two-year conversion programme whereby graduates from disciplines other than law obtain an equivalent law degree qualification.
- PhD/Doctoral Studies*: An intensive doctoral programme supervised by one of the School's leading researchers across a wide variety of legal fields.
- Professional Diplomas*: The School runs a series of part-time diplomas which provide professional development opportunities to our graduates and the wider business world. These include Diplomas in Arbitration and Data Protection & Governance.

*These options are open to graduates in non-law disciplines.
