

Vocal diseases diagnosis is just a phone call away

● ROSALYN MORAN, a PhD student at UCD, has been awarded first prize in the university's entrepreneurship programme.

Roslayn's company, Vocal Health Screen, has devised a system to test people for vocal diseases using a phone call.

● This information is then available to the consultant to combine with other patient information to form a diagnosis.

