Notes: Maternal Social Support Index (MSSI; Pascoe, Ialongo, Horn, Reinhart, & Perradatto, 1988). The adapted version consists of 9 items related to maternal perception of help with daily tasks ($\alpha=0.78$). The participant responded to these 9 items by indicating who does different household tasks in her household, with the response options: I generally do it, someone else and I generally do it, or someone else generally does it. Items were summed to obtain a total score, with higher scores representing more perceived support by the mother.

Neighborhood Quality Evaluation Scale (NQES; Roosa et al., 2005) was used to assess participants' evaluations about the quality of their neighbourhoods. In response to each of the 11 items ($\alpha=.91$), mothers were asked to indicate their levels of agreement, ranging from 1 (not at all true) to 4 (very true). Consistent with the scale's coding structure, some items were reverse coded. Items were summed and a mean was computed, with higher scores indicating a more positive attitude towards the neighbourhood.

Maternal perceptions of criminal events in their neighbourhoods were assessed using the 10 item ($\alpha=.92$) Neighborhood Criminal Events Scale (NCES; Roosa et al., 2005). In response to each item, mothers were asked to indicate how often they felt each event happened in their area, with responses ranging from 1 (rarely or none of the time) to 4 (most or all of the time). Items were then summed and a mean score was computed, with higher scores indicating a higher occurrence of negative events or high neighbourhood disadvantage.

Notes: The Parenting Daily Hassles Scale (PDH; Crnic & Greenberg, 1990) is a 20-item measure of typical everyday events in parenting and parent-child interactions, some of which may make life difficult. It assesses the frequency and intensity of these hassles. The frequency of each event is proposed to give an objective marker of how often the event occurs and the intensity or impact score indicates the caregiver's subjective appraisal of how much those events affect or hassle them.

Notes: Variable was created during anonymisation due to very small cell size, from the combination of two survey questions:

(e4) Does ^childname have any ongoing diagnosed chronic illness?

(e8) Does ^childname have any diagnosed physical disability?

A response of 'Yes' indicates that child has an ongoing diagnosed chronic illness and/or a diagnosed physical disability.

Notes: Edinburgh Postnatal Depression Scale (EPDS; Cox, Holden, & Sagovsky, 1987) is a 10-item ($\alpha = .93$) measure completed by the mother when the PFL child is six months old. The EPDS is designed to identify women who are at risk of depression. Mothers were asked to tick the option that best represents how she had been feeling over the previous seven days. The four responses to each question were rated on a zero to 3 point scale with higher scores indicating a greater likelihood of depression. The total score obtained represents the sum of all responses and has a range of zero to 30.

Notes: The Family Environment Scale (FES; Moos & Moos, 2009) is a 90 item inventory which measures perceived 'real', 'ideal' and 'expected family environments', across three dimensions; Relationship, Personal Growth and System Maintenance. In the PFL evaluation, the 'real' family environment is measured, across two of the dimensions; the Relationship dimension includes cohesion, expressiveness and conflict, and the System Maintenance dimension includes organisation and control. This reduces the total number of items to 45. Mothers were asked to answer each of the 45 statements by choosing whether it was true or false for their family. The responses are matched to the score card (each item has a preferred direction, either true or false), and the scores are converted into a standard score using the FES conversion table.

Notes: The Difficult Life Circumstances scale (DLC; Johnson, Booth, & Barnard, 1989) identifies parents' perceptions of the existence of stressors and problems which are caused by factors such as substance, physical or emotional abuse, finances, community support and housing. PFL uses 15 items from this measure ($\alpha=0.69$) and participants responded Yes or No as to the presence or absence of each problem. The total score was calculated by summing all items, providing a range of scores from 0 to 15. Difficulties were also grouped into 4 domains: difficulty with partner, health difficulty, housing difficulty, and financial difficulty. Scores for each domain represent the number of difficulties experienced by participants in that domain.

DLC_partner was derived during anonymisation from questions Hd1c1 – 15. Respondent is coded as “One or more apply” if they responded ‘Yes’ to any of the questions associated with difficulties with partner.

Notes: In order to elicit a direct measure of contamination a 'blue-dye' question was included in the thirty six month interview. This question asked participants from the high and low treatment groups and the comparison group if they have heard of a particular parenting phrase, in this case 'Emotional Literacy', and if they know what this phrase means. The phrase is related to a topic which only participants in the high treatment group should be aware of as the mentors discussed and promoted this behaviour with participants when delivering the programme between twenty-four and thirty-six months. Emotional Literacy is the ability to understand your emotions and empathise with others.

Notes: The Brief Child-Toddler Social and Emotional Assessment (BITSEA; Briggs-Gowan & Carter, 2006) is a 42-item screening tool for social-emotional/behavioural problems and delays in competence in children aged twelve months to thirty-six months. This version is a shortened version of the Child-Toddler Social and Emotional Assessment (ITSEA). The BITSEA yields a Problem score ($\alpha=.79$) and a Competence score ($\alpha=.65$). Problem behaviour ($\alpha=.82$) items include externalising (6 items), internalising (8 items) and dysregulation problems (8 items). Competencies ($\alpha=.59$) include areas of attention, compliancy, mastery, motivation, pro-social peer relations, empathy, play skills and social relatedness (11 items). The interviewer asked participants to verbally rate each item on a 3 point scale (0 = not true/rarely, 1 = somewhat true/ sometimes, 2 = very true/often).

Notes: The Infant-Toddler Social and Emotional Assessment (ITSEA; Carter & Briggs-Gowan, 2006) is a 168-item questionnaire which is completed by parents or caregivers of children aged twelve to thirty-five months old. As with the BITSEA, it should be noted that the PFL children sampled were above the manual stated age range for this measure. The items cover four domains (externalising, internalising, dysregulation, and competence), which are then divided into 17 subscales. The PFL evaluation includes two subscales - Pro- Social Peer Relations ($\alpha=0.63$) and Peer Aggression ($\alpha=0.74$), incorporating 11 items. These subscales focus on the child's behaviour around other children, for example: 'Takes turns when playing with others'. For each item the participant was asked to describe her child's behaviour over the last month with the following options not true/rarely, somewhat true/sometimes, or very true/often. These were scored as 0, 1, and 2 respectively. Items were summed to obtain a Pro-Social Peer Relations score whereby higher scores indicate greater levels of positive peer competencies and engagement in pro-social activities, and a Peer Aggression score whereby higher scores indicate greater levels of negative peer relations.

Notes: The Parental Acceptance and Rejection Questionnaire – Short Form (PARQ; Rohner, 1991) is a 24-item measure assessing the way in which parents act toward their child. Answers were given on a four point scale ranging from almost always true of me to almost never true of me. Item 13 was reverse scored and item scores were summed to yield subscale scores for warmth/affection (8 items; $\alpha=0.69$), hostility/ aggression (6 items; $\alpha=0.23$), indifference/neglect (6 items; $\alpha=0.32$), and undifferentiated rejection (4 items; $\alpha=0.26$). Subscale scores were then summed to an aggregate total score ($\alpha=0.59$).
