

Frontiers of Phenomenology

Thursday 14th December 2017, UCD Sutherland School of Law, Room L143, University College Dublin

With the support of the School of Philosophy, University College Dublin, and the Irish Research Council.
The workshop is free and open to the public, but registration is required. To register, please email:
anya.daly@ucd.ie

This workshop brings together the latest projects of the current cohort of Irish Research Council postdoctoral researchers and Visiting Scholars under the China Scholarship Council working within phenomenology under the mentorship of Professor Dermot Moran.

WORKSHOP PROGRAMME:

9.15 Opening Words Dermot MORAN

9.30 James JARDINE (University College Dublin)

Edmund Husserl and Richard Moran on the Self-Awareness of Attitudes.

11.00 Anya DALY (University College Dublin)

"The Inhuman Gaze" and perceiving otherwise.

12.05 Qinghua ZHU (Capital Normal University, Beijing, China)

Heidegger on Plato's Myths

14.15 Elisa MAGRÌ (University College Dublin)

Habit and Social Attention

15.30 Kenn Nakata STEFFENSEN (University College Dublin)

East Asian philosophy and the necessary evil of translation: Thick translators, assimilation and respect for sacred cows?

16.35 Anna BORTOLAN (University College Dublin)

"I need to give it some feeling": emotions and self-esteem in epistemic experience

17.35 Closing remarks

