

Pre-publication offer and invitation to participate in a tabula gratulatoria to celebrate Barry Raftery's contribution to archaeology

Relics of Old Decency:
archaeological studies in later prehistory
Festschrift for Barry Raftery

Edited by Gabriel Cooney, Katharina Becker, John Coles, Michael Ryan and Susanne Sievers

Over 60 academics from Ireland, Britain and Europe have come together to honour the life and career of the recently retired Professor of Celtic Archaeology at University College Dublin, Barry Raftery. Professor Raftery is best known for his widely published work on the Iron Age, including the landmark monograph Pagan Celtic Ireland, his extensive excavations at the late Bronze Age hillfort at Rathgall, Co. Wicklow, and his programme of innovative research on wooden trackways and associated features in Irish raised bogs. This festschrift is a testament to the very deep regard and affection in which Barry is held in many countries.

Full price €50,
SPECIAL PRE-PUBLICATION OFFER €40

RELICS OF OLD DECENCY: CONTENTS

1. WETLANDS—M. Baillie and D. Brown, A chronological glimpse into the later first millennium BC ● B. Coles and R. Brunning, Following the Sweet Track ● J. Henderson, Taking the waters: Scottish crannogs and the Atlantic Iron Age ● C. McDermott, C. Moore, C. Murray, G. Plunkett and M. Stanley, A Colossus of Roads: the Iron Age archaeology of Ireland's peatlands ● A. Matsui, Exploitation of plants and animals at the Jomon wetland site of Sakuramachi in Toyama, Japan ● A. O'Sullivan, Early medieval crannogs and imagined islands.
2. ARTEFACTS AND CONTEXTS—M. Cahill, Working with wire—the functional and decorative uses of gold wire in Bronze Age Ireland, 2200–700 BC ● G. Eogan, The small metal tools of the Irish Bronze Age: an outline review ● E. Grogan and H. Roche, An assessment of middle Bronze Age domestic pottery in Ireland ● M. Gustin, The golden mask from the unknown ● F. Hunter, Miniature masterpieces: unusual Iron Age brooches from Scotland ● G. Kaenel, Le Vaudois Frédéric Troyon et l'Irlande au milieu du XIXe siècle ● P. Macdonald and J. Ó Néill, Investigation of the find-spot of the Tamlaght hoard, Co. Armagh ● J. P. Mallory, The conundrum of Iron Age ceramics: the evidence of language ● E. O'Brien, A re-evaluation of the find-spot of, and a possible context for, the anthropoid hilted sword from Ballyshannon, Co. Donegal ● R. Ó Floinn, Notes on some Iron Age finds from Ireland ● N. Venclová, Iron Age glass-working: the evidence from Némčice in Moravia.
3. CONTACTS AND CONNECTIONS—R. Bradley, Missing links and false relations: architecture and ideas in Bronze Age Scotland and Ireland ● J. Collis, To be, or not to be, a Celt. Does it really matter? ● J.-P. Guillaumet and A. Eugène, À propos des trois objets métalliques, témoins des relations entre le pays éduen et les îles Britanniques ● C. Haselgrove, Small change: two recent coin finds from Humberstone (Leicestershire) and long-distance contacts in later Iron Age Britain ● M. Zeiler, P. C. Ramsel, E. Jerem and J. V. S. Megaw, Stempelgleiche Frühlatène-Keramik zwischen Traisental und Neusiedlersee.
4. LA TÈNE ART—I. Armit, Janus in furs? Opposed human heads in the art of the European Iron Age ● V. Defente, The Waldalgesheim Flagon and the Tara Brooch: some considerations of an iconographic tradition ● J. V. S. Megaw and M. R. Megaw, A style without genesis? The elusive birthplace of early Celtic art ● F. Müller and G. Lüscher, The Celtic horror vacui and its demise on the Continent. An essay on a La Tène fibula ● P. Sankot, The oldest Italian brooches in Bohemia ● I. M. Stead, The chronology of La Tène art in Britain ● D. Vitali, Ateliers transalpini e Senoni delle Marche: i problemi dello 'Stile Vegetale continuo' ● J. Waddell, The elusive image.
5. LATER PREHISTORIC LIFE AND DEATH—K. Becker, Iron Age Ireland—finding an invisible people ● J. Coles, Decorating the dominant: some evidence from the rock carvings of southern Scandinavia ● G. Cooney, Tracing lines across landscapes: corporality and history in later prehistoric Ireland ● A. P. Fitzpatrick, The Champion's Portion: feasting in the Celtic pre-Roman Iron Age ● F. McCormick, Ritual feasting in Iron Age Ireland ● T. McGarry, Irish late prehistoric burial ring-ditches ● C. Newman, The Sword in the Stone: previously unrecognised archaeological evidence of ceremonies of the later Iron Age and early medieval period ● W. O'Brien, Hidden 'Celtic' Ireland: indigenous Iron Age settlement in the south-western peninsulas.
6. HILLFORTS AND ENCLOSURES—O.-H. Frey, Oppidum . . . silvis paludibusque munitum ● S. Halliday and I. Ralston, How many hillforts are there in Scotland? ● D. Harding, Secondary occupation of Atlantic roundhouses: problems of identification and interpretation ● E. P. Kelly, Re-evaluation of a supposed inland promontory fort: Knoxspark, Co. Sligo—Iron Age fortress or Viking stronghold? ● B. Lacey, Some large hilltop and hill-slope stone enclosures in County Donegal ● R. Warner, Clogher in late prehistory.
7. ARCHAEOLOGICAL HISTORIES—M. O'Sullivan, The life and legacy of R. A. S. Macalister: a century of archaeology at UCD ● J. Raftery, Newtown, Loughcrew, Oldcastle, County Meath. Cairn H, August 5–November 10, 1943 ● M. Ryan, A long 1923 ● P. F. Wallace, 'These gentlemen'—an old row over who should excavate Tara ● M. Clinton, The box of smiles.
- ISBN 978 1 905569 37 3, 602pp, Hardback, 150 colour and B&W illustrations

Relics of Old Decency—Pre-publication Order Form

Offer expires 1 November 2009

Name.....

Address.....

Tel. No.....Email.....

I enclose cheque/postal order for €40 + €6.50 p+p or debit my Mastercard/Visa/Laser card

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

expiry date...../...../

Signature.....

Return to Wordwell Ltd, Media House, Sth County Business Park, Leopardstown, Dublin 18, Ireland. Tel +353-1-2947860 Email: Festschrift@wordwellbooks.com

www.wordwellbooks.com