Ireland's No. 1 destination for study tours

Welcome to Ireland's premier university

If you're planning a Faculty-led Study Tour next summer, then look no further than University College Dublin. It's Ireland's largest and most renowned university, with a world ranking in the top 100 Universities and a history reaching back over 150 years.

It offers world-class academic and sporting facilities, and is within easy reach of Dublin city centre and the magnificent Irish countryside, along with a host of cultural and visitor attractions.

With a dedicated Centre for Study Abroad, we can offer you a highly flexible approach, customising a programme that meets the specific needs of your group, including assistance with arranging cultural activities and group events.

At the development stage, our Centre for Study Abroad will liaise with you to create a framework for your tour, letting you draw on all our skill and experience in designing a superior programme of activity that will achieve the learning objectives of your group.

Excellent classroom and computing facilities are available throughout our elegant campus, and your group can also avail of lecturers from any of UCD's five Colleges: Arts & Celtic Studies; Human Sciences; Business & Law; Life Sciences; Engineering.

We offer a comprehensive Orientation Programme for your group as soon as they arrive at the UCD campus, making sure they make the most of their stay. We also address all on-site logistical needs, including safety and security, and transport.

All of the specially selected accommodation for your group is extremely well appointed and comfortable, including kitchen, living room and laundry. And, of course, our excellent campus catering facilities are available throughout the summer for added convenience.

An extensive Social and Cultural Programme is also offered, to enhance your group's experience of living Irish culture. A number of site visits can be arranged to provide a practical, working insight into Ireland's business and commercial environment.
