

Comhshaoil, Oidhreacht agus Rialtas Áitiúil
Environment, Heritage and Local Government

The Humanities Institute of Ireland is funded under the Programme for Research in Third Level Institutions (PRTL), administered by the HEA

The Adoption of Agriculture in Ireland:

what are the research priorities?

UCD School of Archaeology presents a public forum for discussion and debate to be held at the:

John Hume Institute for Global Irish Studies, Belfield, University College Dublin

11 am, Saturday May 17th 2008

Aims

This public consultation forms part of a UCD project aiming to establish a consensus statement of research priorities for the mesolithic-neolithic transition in Ireland (see website below for detail). The day will be based on the brief presentation of the results of this consensus building exercise with reaction from invited international discussants and many opportunities for public debate. Feedback on the proposed priorities is the primary aim of the seminar. The meeting is followed by a wine reception.

Drafts of the consensus statement of priorities will be available as a pdf on the project web page:

<http://www.ucd.ie/archaeology/research/schoolresearch/adoptionofagricultureinireland/>

Contributions by

Gabriel Cooney

Margaret Gowen

Leendert Louwe Kooijmans

Alison Sheridan

Graeme Warren
- presentation of project results

Nicki Whitehouse

Alasdair Whittle

Details

Precise running order is to be confirmed, but the key times are:

10.30 : Registration and coffee

11.00: Start

c. 4.30: Wine reception

The seminar is free, but registration in advance is required; please contact Graeme or Jessica (see below for details).

A conference dinner is planned, and interest in this should be registered.

Acknowledgements

This project is enabled by a UCD President's Research Fellowship. The Humanities Institute of Ireland have provided office facilities and the UCD School of Archaeology provides support in kind. The seminar has received support from the Dept of Environment, Heritage and Local Government, the John Hume Institute for Global Irish Studies and Ireland 8000-2000.

Contact Details

Graeme Warren, UCD School of Archaeology, Newman Building, Belfield, Dublin 4. Graeme.Warren@ucd.ie
Jessica Smyth, Heritage Council, Kilkenny, Co. Kilkenny. Jessica@heritagecouncil.com