UCD REGISTRY

Recognition of Prior and Concurrent Learning

This email has been circulated to: Admissions Tutor, College Administrator, College Principal, Graduate School Director, Graduate School Manager, Head of School, Marketing Managers, Programme Manager, Programme Office Administrator, Programme Office Director, School Administrator – Students, School Manager

Dear :FORENAME,

Further my communication earlier in the year, the new policy in relation to Recognition of Prior and Concurrent Learning is now in place.

On a separate but related note, a number of enhancements are currently being made to the online RPL applications system, and will be live shortly, these include:

- A new report which allocates RPL applications automatically on the basis of the operational team related to the course for which the applicant has applied
- A facility which links the application system to the Delegated Authority – Student Decisions system

These are in addition to facilities which are already in place including an automatic email issued to the applicant once a decision has been made and the standard advantages in relation to tracking and transparency inherent in any online system.

Any schools who are still using the manual paper-based applications system are encouraged to consider using the new enhanced online system.

If you have any queries in relation to the new policy or the online RPL applications system, please contact the implementation group.

Regards,

Martin Hurley

(on behalf of the RPL Policy Implementation Group)
