

UCD REGISTRY

Spring Trimester Exams

Dear :FORENAME,

I hope your preparations for the examinations are going well. As indicated in my last email, the University has prepared information to help guide and support you through the examinations in the coming weeks.

We are acutely aware that some of you may be undertaking online examinations for the first time, some of you may be doing so under very difficult circumstances, and some of you may be quite anxious about the forthcoming examination session. We have collated information, available on the Assessment in UCD - Examinations and Grading website, which we hope will provide you with practical information to help you in the coming weeks. It includes information such as study tips, guidance on preparing and setting up for your online examinations, and support information.

Additional information may be added to the in the coming days, we urge you to refer back to it regularly. We would like to wish you every success in your examinations.

Best regards,

Karen McHugh
Director of Assessment, UCD Registry
