

If you are standing still, you are also going backward: evolving EndNote Support in UCD

Diarmuid Stokes, Liaison Librarian, UCD Library e:diarmuid.stokes@ucd.ie t:@dstokes01

2006

UCD Library initiates EndNote X support for UCD staff and researchers. The Library runs 36 Introductory EndNote and 4 Advanced EndNote Workshops during the academic year

2007

UCD Library employs a Coordinator to run EndNote Programme. The library holds 15 sessions during the academic year. Library staff are trained to deliver and support EndNote training.

2008

EndNote X2 introduced. Library creates suite of webpages to support EndNote containing manuals, FAQs, etc. Library settles on 20 training sessions per academic year.

2009

EndNote X2 added to Software for U service. X2 now available on and off campus. Unable to offer hands-on training, the Library develops guides to show how to set up EndNote in Software for U.

2011

UCD library upgrades to EndNote X5 and starts supporting EndNote Web. New guides are developed for all three versions of EndNote

2014

EndNote X5 upgraded to X7 and EndNote Web becomes Endnote Online. An online tutorial for EndNote Online is created. All EndNote webpages are converted into a LibGuide.

2015

What does the future hold?

- An Online Tutorial for EndNote X7?
- 10 Days of EndNote?
- An introductory session for people with poor IT skills?

Snapshot of EndNote activity 2014/2015

Number of individuals trained = 728

Number of sessions = 49

Number of queries answered = 231

EndNote Training by College

- College of Agriculture, Food Science and Veterinary Medicine
- College of Arts & Celtic Studies
- College of Business & Law
- College of Engineering & Architecture
- College of Health Sciences
- College of Human Sciences
- College of Science

