

If you are standing still, you are also going backward: evolving EndNote Support in UCD

Diarmuid Stokes, Liaison Librarian, UCD Library e:diarmuid.stokes@ucd.ie t:@dstokes01

2006
UCD Library initiates EndNote X support for UCD staff and researchers. The Library runs 36 Introductory EndNote and 4 Advanced EndNote Workshops during the academic year

2007
UCD Library employs a Coordinator to run the EndNote Programme. 15 sessions are run in the academic year. Library staff are trained to deliver and support EndNote training.

2008
EndNote X2 introduced. Library creates suite of webpages to support endnote containing manuals, FAQs, etc. Library settles on 20 training sessions per academic year.

2009
EndNote X2 added to Software for U service. X2 now available on and off campus. Unable to offer hands-on training, the Library develops guides showing how to set up EndNote in Software for U.

2011
UCD library upgrades to EndNote X5 and supports EndNote Web. New guides are developed for all three versions of EndNote.

2014
EndNote upgraded to X7 and EndNote Web becomes EndNote Online. An Online tutorial for EndNote Online is created. All EndNote webpages are converted into a Libguide.

2015
What does the future hold?
• An Online Tutorial for EndNote X7?
• 10 Days of EndNote?
• Introductory session for people with poor IT skills?

<http://libguides.ucd.ie/endnote>