Welcome & Introduction

As we continue to face the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic, UCD remains committed to providing a safe and enjoyable working and learning environment for all it's community, both online and on-campus.

These guidelines are intended to help you prepare to resume your studies for the Spring Trimester, letting you know what you can expect of the University and, also, what we will expect of you. While they will be of greatest utility for those returning to campus, the guidelines also contain important information for virtual learning, including setting up your learning space, getting involved socially and receiving supports. The overriding principle is that we will continue to be led by Public Health recommendations to minimise the opportunity for COVID-19 to spread, therefore maximising your safety and the safety of the whole University community. Protection against COVID-19 is a mutual responsibility shared by all students, faculty, staff and users of the campus to work collectively to enjoy a safe studying and working environment. As we experienced in the first trimester, it is likely that the social restrictions referenced within these guidelines are subject to change, and as such we ask you to keep up to date with the public health guidelines and advice issued by UCD and by the Irish Government.

Overview of the Belfield and Blackrock Campus Environment in the Spring Trimester

Similar to last trimester, you may have the opportunity for some small group face-to-face classes, alongside at-distance or virtual learning. The number of face-to-face teaching hours you will have on campus will depend on a number of factors, such as your programme of study, the numbers of students taking your modules and the nature of the module learning outcomes. Where a class commences online at the start of the Spring Trimester and is subsequently made available on-campus, the University commits to keeping an online option available so that students, who chose to, can continue their modules remotely. This means if you chose to live outside Dublin for the Spring trimester, you will not have to relocate if restrictions ease. Your College or School Office team will give you further details about your specific programme.

Based on public health guidelines, we anticipate your experience for the Spring Trimester will be very much along the lines of what you experienced last trimester. We appreciate that you worked incredibly hard to maintain your studies and to continue achieving, while staying connected and supporting each other, and we are incredibly proud of the whole community for what was accomplished - despite these challenges. We expect you will have a similar experience for the upcoming trimester, as you did in the Autum, including:

- » We will be encouraging your safe engagement in on-campus based activities, both in learning and in the more social and sporting types of opportunities.
- » Learning in small groups is more likely to take place on campus.
- » Learning in large groups may well continue to be through online live lectures, recorded lectures or blended delivery.
- » Laboratory, clinical and professional activities will recommence face-to-face, with physical distancing and the use of PPE as necessary.
- » Group work could be through either digital or face-to-face methods depending on the module and the individuals within the group.
- » Student supports will be available to you both online and in-person by appointment.

Additional facilities are available for you to study independently, or in small groups, which will allow you to engage in your online learning and your face-to-face learning from the campus. The amount of time you spend on campus will depend on your own extra-curricular activities and on your programme of study.

Students returning to Campus

What are my responsibilities?

For new and returning students the changes necessitated by COVID-19 mean that we must all become used to a new, different way of campus life. Your actions directly affect others around you - their health and that of their families and friends - just as theirs do yours. We are, again, asking every student to take personal responsibility for their actions, at all times, and adhere to the best practice advice being issued by the HSE, and UCD, in respect of COVID-19 risk reduction.

Students must not attend campus for any reason if they are suffering from symptoms of COVID-19. When on campus, both hand and respiratory hygiene, the use of face coverings and physical distancing must be in accordance with HSE, sectoral and the University's own guidelines. If you are living in Campus Residences and receive a COVID-19 positive diagnosis you must report it to the Front of House team by dialing 01-716-7999. A member of Campus Services staff will advise on the next steps.

Last trimester, the University put in place rules relating to COVID-19 risk reduction to be adhered to by students, and others, on campus and off campus whilst engaged in planned University activity. These rules remain in place, in addition to the guidelines laid down by the HSE. These will extend to cover issues such as the use of face coverings and other PPE, maximum room occupancies, designated building access and exit points, one way systems in buildings, the keeping of contact / class attendance diaries, etc. Where possible, buildings will have designated access and exit points and managed circulation protocols. Hand sanitisation units have been installed at main entrances and across buildings.

UCD Student Code of Conduct

During the registration process, students sign up to the UCD Student Code of Conduct, which sets out the standards of behaviour expected of all students. It is your responsibility to ensure that you follow the University's guidance, and in doing so respect your fellow students and university staff. In the unlikely event that there is an alleged failure to adhere to public health guidelines, the matter may be considered through the disciplinary procedure of the UCD Student Code of Conduct on the basis that such behaviour will be considered a safety risk to members of the University community.

Student Health Declaration

At registration, you are asked to agree to terms and conditions which will be extended to cover COVID-19 related information. In particular, you are asked not attend University related activities if you are experiencing symptoms that could be associated with COVID-19 infection, if you have been in close contact with an individual known to be infected with COVID-19 or if you fall into a group of persons advised to restrict movements, such as following international travel. See Appendix 1 below for further information on the Student Health Declaration. You need only agree to the UCD Student Code of Conduct and Student Health Declaration once per academic year.

Responding to Announcements as Public Health Advice Changes

We will continue to communicate with you via your registered UCD email address whenever there are changes to safety protocols. As was the case last trimester, you may expect changes to many aspects of this guide throughout the Spring trimester. This will continue to be the case because we recognise that our teaching, learning, research and support functions may need to adjust in line with national and international guidance. We ask for your assistance in ensuring that you adhere to any changes for your sake and for the sake of other members of the UCD Community.

Maintaining physical distancing:

Your actions and choices affect the whole community, not only yourself. While you might feel at ease or perceive low risk, keep in mind that everyone's personal health and home situation differs. So we ask that you act responsibly in the first instance, thereby setting the tone and showing you stand for inclusion.

The current guidance is that you should maintain a distance of 2m from the nearest person. Sectoral guidelines do permit 1m physical distancing in some teaching settings, in conjunction with the use of a face covering. There will be multiple signs around the campus, internally and externally, reminding you of this physical distance. We will ask you to make your own judgement in using spaces/seats in common areas. In formal teaching and learning spaces, we will have room-specific guidelines which you will be required to adhere to.

Face coverings:

In accordance with public health guidelines, we all - students and other members of the University community - are obliged to wear face coverings - in the form of masks - when entering, circulating within and using campus buildings. Face coverings are available, free of charge, at a number of designated points across the campus. If the wearing of a mask is not possible due to an underlying condition, or due to the circumstances of the activity being undertaken, then a face visor may be worn. However, if students have underlying conditions that preclude them from wearing face coverings of any type but also have a condition that makes them more susceptible to COVID-19 then they should seek further medical advice on the appropriateness of engaging in those activities without a mask. Where possible, we will put in place live streaming or online availability of learning materials for vulnerable students or for those who cannot wear face-coverings in situations where they are required and elect not to attend. Please follow this link for HSE advice to people in high risk or very high risk categories.

Hand sanitisation/hygiene:

Public health advice is that regular hand washing throughout the day is an important mechanism to limit the spread of the COVID-19. This is because the virus can live on surfaces that you may touch such as door handles, desks and your own face coverings. The University will provide hand sanitising stations throughout the campus and will also be cleaning facilities more frequently. However, we ask that you carry your own hand sanitiser and sanitising wipes and get into the habit of using them when you change location on campus. Face coverings, hand sanitiser, sanitising wipes and other hygiene products are available to purchase from Procure Pharmacy, the Centra convenience store and Student Union shops.

Prepare for contact tracing:

If you haven't already done so, we ask that you download and use the free HSE Contact Tracing App (compatible with Android and Apple phones), which will facilitate and speed up contact tracing in the event of a COVID -19 case within the University population. You should also keep a record of:

- » Classes you have attended
- » The number of the classroom seat you sat in (if relevant)
- » Offices you have visited
- » Facilities you have utilised / visited
- » Club/Society activities you were involved in

In so far as is possible, try and keep a diary of your social contacts. When recording an event note what PPE you were wearing (if any) and, if possible, what PPE others around you were wearing, and note the activity you were undertaking. If contact tracing is undertaken it will be through the national public health system, and they will find it helpful if you have kept a diary.

Remember, if you are living in Campus Residences - or have been to classes on campus - and receive a COVID-19 positive diagnosis please call 01-716-7999 to report it. A member of Campus Services staff will advise on the next steps.

Student Support Academic Experience

Scheduling:

As always, scheduled learning activities will be pre-populated into your individual timetables (if you started your course in September) or are visible on the Course Search (if you start your course in January or May). Some of these activities will be delivered on campus and there will be other learning elements that you can take either at your own convenience or at scheduled times, depending on the module. We recommend that you set aside time each day to deal with each learning element as it becomes available, rather than waiting for tasks to build up. This is especially the case in preparation of assignments for submission or study for assessments. Don't forget to leave time for exercise or other activities that can keep you mind and body healthy. If you started your course in September, the change-of-mind window for module registration will open in early January and dates will be published on the Key Dates section of the Current Students website. During registration, you will be able to view the delivery mode for each module and associated learning elements (labs, tutorials etc), be that face-to-face, online or blended.

Preparation of personal learning space:

While studying remotely, you may find it useful to set aside a portion of your personal space at home or in your accommodation dedicated to study, if you can. We recognise that this is not always possible, but an office chair, a desk and external display at the correct eyeline would be ideal. If this is not all possible, we suggest using a laptop/tablet stand with an external keyboard, so the screen and keyboard can both be at a comfortable height. We recommend you take regular movement and eye breaks while you study. Our occupational therapist has prepared some tips on how to set up your home study space.

Preparing for a combination of face-face and digital learning

Computer equipment:

We know from engaging with you directly, and through your responses to a number of surveys, that most students work from a combination of a laptop and a mobile phone. If you had no issues in the last trimester using your personal devices for learning, then you should have no issues this trimester.

There are also two further options available to you;

The James Joyce Library and the Health Sciences Library both have banks of laptops that can be borrowed for use within the library space.

In addition, there are a number of computer laboratories available for student study. We ask that you wipe down any computers, equipment, before and after use.

Commonly used digital technologies:

Brightspace is the University's Virtual Learning Environment, where you can expect to find module learning materials, submit assessments and collaborate with classmates. Information on using Brightspace is available here, if you need assistance with any aspect of using Brightspace you can also email ithelpdesk@ucd.ie.

The recommended browser for the best experience of using Brightspace is the latest version of Chrome. The Brightspace Pulse App is also a useful way to receive alerts and notifications on your mobile device. Our institutional app, UCD Mobile, provides easy access to a range of information and services such as gym bookings. You will also find links to COVID-19 guidelines within Brightspace.

Study Spaces:

Additional spaces are available for you to study between face-to-face teaching periods and, where possible, you will be encouraged to use the building in which you have most of your teaching. With lots of online classes and meetings going on, headphones will be an essential part of your kit. Study and library study spaces can be booked here

Student Services Facilities, Supports & Services

You will be able to continue to use and access the same services, facilities and supports that UCD offers, albeit with some restrictions associated with COVID-19. Before travelling to the campus to use a service, please go directly to the website associated with that service to familiarise yourself with access options. You may be required to schedule an appointment for a face-to-face meeting or avail of the service online or by phone.

Learning supports:

A range of learning supports are available to you through the Access and Lifelong Learning Centre, the UCD Writing Centre and the UCD Maths Support Centre. You should contact the relevant support unit depending on what you require.

- » UCD Access & Lifelong Learning provides guidance to mature students, students with disabilities, or students from a socio-economically disadvantaged background. This service is available before entry, during the application stage, and once at UCD. UCD Access and Lifelong Learning also offers Academic Skills Workshops for all UCD students, covering a range of topics from Note-taking to Exam Preparation. All students can enrol in the Brightspace Module "ALL Student Supports-University for All" to find these resources.
- » The UCD Writing Centre offers one-to-one writing consultations in person (pre-booked) and workshops/seminars on particular topics.
- » The UCD Maths Support Centre is available to students during term to assist students registered to level 0, 1 or 2 modules. Support will be offered in one-to-one sessions, drop-in support or bookable appointments using the MSC Virtual Classroom.
- » UCD Library provides online access to a wide range of electronic information to support your study online, including many additional e-books. Help on searching and studying from home can be found here. Also check out the "I'm a student" page. Check your subject guide for helpful information and librarian support in your discipline. All five libraries are open to walk in to borrow books, consult print material and to use the laptops, PCs, printers and copiers. There are occupancy caps in all libraries which you can check here. The wearing of face coverings is mandatory in libraries. To study in a library you will need to book a seat which can be booked up to 8 hours per day. It's important to check in on arrival at your desk. Automatic renewals have been introduced for your general loans. You can return your books to any of the five libraries or to the external book drop outside the James Joyce Library, and no fines will be charged. Short Loan periods have been extended to reflect the changing nature of your time on campus. Library staff are working on campus and information desk services are available. You can use our chat online, or e-mail (client.services@ucd.ie) if you have any query. We are here to help and no question is too small.

Advisory supports

In this new blended learning environment, you may have queries or concerns you would like to speak to a member of UCD staff about. UCD offers a number of different student advisory supports which will still be available to you during the new academic year.

- College and School Offices are available for continuing students; for specific programme queries, your programme manager and programme team are the first point of contact.
- For more general information the Student Desk team is a one-stop-shop for all student-related queries from digital form-stamping to queries relating to fees or registration. Students will be able to avail of all services over email via www.ucd.ie/askus, by phone on 01 716 1555 or, once it is safe to do so, in person by appointment (opening hours are 10am to 4pm). Lots more information and booking slots will be available (one week in advance) on our page www.ucd.ie/askus.
- Student Advisers are available to offer support, information and advice to all students. Every programme has a designated student adviser and details of your adviser can be found on their web page. Appointments can be made for zoom meetings and telephone calls, and face to face meetings can be facilitated as necessary. You can also Live chat with our Student Advisers during office hours.
- UCD Access and Lifelong Learning expect to work both online and in person. If you have any queries relating to disability support, financial supports, mature entry student advisory supports, or Open Learning please email all@ucd.ie or disability@ucd.ie.

IT Services – Walk-in Centre

- UCD IT Services has re-opened the Daedalus IT Centre as per University protocols. At present, pre-booking is essential if you require face to face support. UCD IT Services is continuing to provide IT support through our IT Helpdesk 9am - 5.30pm Monday to Friday.

UCD Careers Network at Belfield and Blackrock

The UCD Careers Network joins the dots between your time at University and your future career. Whether you have no career plan, a vague plan or a clear plan, staff at the Careers Network can help you move forward with your career, applications for graduate study and graduate employment.

The staff at Careers Network continue to be busy connecting with 100's of employers to make sure UCD students have the best possible internship and graduate jobs in this changing environment, and making the most of all new and emerging opportunities.

UCD Careers Network offers career coaching, personal and professional development opportunities and access to job vacancies and other opportunities. Visit our website for more information.

Health Services

The coronavirus pandemic has dramatically changed students' day-to-day lives. While your physical health and safety is critical at this time, looking after your mental health and wellbeing will be crucial in helping you to succeed and enjoy college. Guidelines, for students returning to campus, on coping during the coronavirus pandemic can be found on the student counselling website. Information about campus medical facilities can be found here. If at any point you are worried you may have COVID-19, please follow the simple steps listed here.

Student Life Campus Experience

Considerations for Students living on Campus (Specific updates for Spring trimester)

UCD will be providing access to accommodation for those wishing to avail of just a 14-day period of restricted movement before moving onto accommodation elsewhere for Spring trimester. This is for new incoming students only.

Spring trimester international students who have booked campus accommodation can access the residences from 04/01/2021, however, the licence period will not commence until the 11/01/2021. This is to help facilitate a necessary period of restricted movement at no additional cost. Residents will have to have paid their license fee in full prior to arrival.

International students living in UCD Residences will be assigned rooms as they arrive and check-in on campus. These students can use their rooms for self-isolation as necessary and the room will remain as their allocated room for the period of their stay in UCD, unless there is a requirement to move under health and safety reasons. Students in UCD Residences will be supported by the university if completing a mandatory restricted movements period following international travel. If you are attending UCD after travelling to Ireland from abroad please ensure that you are familiar with the Irish Government's current travel advice and restricted movement requirements and that you adhere to these at all times. See www.gov.ie/en/publication/b4020-travelling-to-ireland-during-the-covid-19-pandemic for the most up to date information.

Students will be able to cook for themselves in their apartment and will be able to access food delivery services from the local supermarkets.

The on-campus Centra provides online ordering and delivery service of groceries to students whilst they are self-isolating.

Roebuck Castle and Roebuck Halls are not available for booking in the 2nd trimester.

Estate Services will follow the latest HSE advice at the time should a resident with symptoms present or should a resident test positive. Protocols are in place if members of the UCD community become sick with COVID-19.

The Summer Trimester will be from 18/05/2021 – 06/08/2021.

Consideration for International Students

International students coming to UCD should check the UCD Global website regularly. This advice is subject to change at short notice and we update it with new information as soon as it is available.

Campus Amenities

A number of outlets remain open on campus, but the range of accessibility varies in accordance with national guidelines. More information is available at Accessing Campus Supports and Amenities.

Sports Facilities

Sports facilities are operating in accordance with national guidelines. Please check accessibility and availability ahead of time. www.ucd.ie/sportandfitness

Student Clubs and Societies

Clubs and societies are a great way to integrate into University life, and clubs and societies are planning both face to face and virtual activities for their members.

UCD Societies will continue to run events in the second trimester; there are around 80 groups to choose from. Through societies, UCD students can access social events, academic development, volunteering opportunities or explore political activism, religious affairs, food, culture, language and travel opportunities. You can join any society throughout the year by attending events or getting in touch societies.ucd.ie/societies

There are 54 sports clubs to choose from that are for the most part student-run and student-led. Clubs provide a huge range of opportunities to train, play and compete in sport, no matter what your passion, ability or level. Club activities will be operating to reflect the COVID-19 procedures of the national governing body of each sport. Procedures will also reflect best practice as dictated by Sport Ireland, the HSE and the University. UCD sports clubs will continue to be at the centre of student activity in UCD. So, whether you want to keep fit, learn new skills or meet people with similar interests, there is a club for you in UCD.

UCD Students' Union

Your Students' Union will be available to you as a resource throughout the year. UCDSU offices are located in the old Student Centre on Belfield campus, and will be open during working hours for you to drop in. Students are encouraged to make contact if you have any concerns or need representation. You can make an appointment through email, or by speaking with the reception team (drop-ins will be available within physical distancing regulations).

Bi-weekly Student Council meetings will remain online due to physical distancing guidelines. UCDSU events and further information, along with contact information for all of your officers, can be found through www.ucdsu.ie or via our social channels @ucdsu.

Transport

As a guiding principle we ask that you walk or cycle to campus where possible or use public transport whilst adhering to public health advice. Driving to and parking on campus should be considered only when other options are unavailable or impractical due to distance or lack of public transport. You can find out further information about getting to and parking on campus here.

Appendix 1

Student Health Declaration

I declare that, for the academic year 2020-21, I will follow government and UCD guidelines related to reducing the spread of COVID-19. I understand that this is likely to change regularly, so I will take personal responsibility for ensuring I am up to date with the latest information.

I declare that I will not attend University physical facilities or University organised events if:

- I experience any or all of the common symptoms associated with COVID-19 (Coronavirus) namely:
 - » Cough – this can be any kind of cough, not just dry
 - » Fever – temperature 38 degrees Celsius (100 degrees Fahrenheit) or above
 - » Shortness of breath or breathing difficulties
 - » Loss or change to sense of smell or taste – this means you've noticed you cannot smell or taste anything, or things smell or taste different to normal
 - » If I have travelled outside of Ireland within a country that is not included in the EU Traffic Lights Approach to Travel in the preceding 14 days*
- If I have been in contact with, or in the immediate vicinity of any person subsequently displaying COVID-19 symptoms, confirmed or not
- If I have been advised by a Doctor to self-isolate or cocoon
- If I am awaiting COVID-19 test results

If I am a UCD resident, I will not leave my accommodation to attend class or use any University facilities until such time as I have been advised by a doctor that it is safe for me to do so.

If diagnosed with COVID-19, I undertake to not enter UCD campus facilities, or attend UCD organised events, until my doctor has advised that it is safe to do so.

I declare I have watched and/or read the following COVID-19 and public health resources and am familiar with them:

- » HSE General Guidelines COVID-19 (video resource)
- » WHO Hand Wash Guide (video resource)
- » HSE Guide on Face Coverings and Gloves (webpage resource)
- » HSE Guide for People at Higher Risk from Corona Virus (webpage resource)
- » HSE Covid-tracker-app (webpage resource linking to app)

* You can reduce your 14-day restricted movement period for non-green countries in some circumstances if you get a clear PCR COVID-19 test after arriving back in Ireland. For more check www.gov.ie/en/publication/b4020-travelling-to-ireland-during-the-covid-19-pandemic
